The Collected Poems of Frank O'Hara Frank O'Hara,1995-03-31 Available for the first time in paperback The

Collected Poems of Frank O'Hara reflects the poet's growth as an artist from the earliest dazzling experimental verses that he began writing in the late 1940s to the years before his accidental death at forty when his poems became increasingly individual and reflective Slavic Excursions Donald Davie, 1990-06-11 The Russian Revolutionary Novel Richard Freeborn, 1985-02-28 Professor Freeborn's book is an attempt to identify and define the evolution of a particular kind of novel in Russian and Soviet literature the revolutionary novel This genre is a uniquely Russian phenomenon and one that is of central importance in Russian literature The study begins with a consideration of Turgenev's masterpiece Fathers and Children and traces the evolution of the revolutionary novel through to its most important development a century later in Pasternak's Doctor Zhivago and the emergence of a dissident literature in the Soviet Union Professor Freeborn examines the particular phases of the genre's development and in particular the development after 1917 the early fiction which explored the relationship between revolution and instinct such as Pilnyak's The Naked Year the first attempts at mythmaking in Leonov's The Badgers and Furmanov's Chapayev the next phase in which novelists turned to the investigation of ideas exemplified most notably by Zamyatin's We the resumption of the classical approach in such works as Olesha's Envy which explore the interaction between the individual and society and finally the appearance of the revolutionary epic in Gorky's The Life of Klim Samgin Sholokhov's Quiet Flows the Don and Alexey Tolstoy's The Road to Calvary Professor Freeborn also examines the way this kind of novel has undergone change in response to revolutionary change and he shows how an important feature of this process has been the implicit assumption that the revolutionary novel is distinguished by its right to pass an objective independent judgement on revolution and the revolutionary image of man This is a comprehensive and challenging study of a uniquely Russian tradition of writing which draws on a great range of novels many of them little known in the West As with other titles in this series all quotations have been translated The Shape of Apocalypse in Modern Russian Fiction David M. Bethea, 2014-07-14 David Bethea examines the distinctly Russian view of the end of history in five major works of modern Russian fiction Originally published in 1989 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 The Poems of Dr. Zhivago. Translated with a Commentary by Donald Davie. [With the Russian Text.] Boris Leonidovich Pasternak, Donald Davie, 1965 Andrei Bitov Ellen Chances, 1993-11-11 This is the first book on Andrei Bitov one of contemporary Russia's most original writers It plots his evolution from his early publications of the post-Stalin years to his mature masterpieces of the glasnost era Ellen Chances assesses his place both in the Russian literary tradition from Pushkin onwards and as part of a broader international cultural heritage including Dickens Fellini and Proust She explores his themes
