Communication, Space, and Design Amardo Rodriguez, 2005-11-10 Communication Space and Design looks at how our worldview shapes our relations to and conceptions of space and place and how our spaces and designs impact our communication practices By asserting that our spaces and designs are increasingly promoting various expressions of separation this book contends that this separation makes us more private We find this increasing inwardness for example in the rise of gated communities exclusionary suburbs and hyper suburbs Ultimately the book asks how our spaces and designs impact our understanding and embodying of democracy civility and justice It also explores how this inward turn limits our sense of obligation to the world and each other by undermining our ability to develop the communicational resiliency and moral sophistication that comes through public interactions

Bach's Cycle, Mozart's Arrow Karol Berger, 2007-10-02 In this erudite and elegantly composed argument Karol Berger uses the works of Monteverdi Bach Mozart and Beethoven to support two groundbreaking claims first that it was only in the later eighteenth century that music began to take the flow of time from the past to the future seriously second that this change in the structure of musical time was an aspect of a larger transformation in the way educated Europeans began to imagine and think about time with the onset of modernity a part of a shift from the premodern Christian outlook to the modern post Christian worldview Until this historical moment as Berger illustrates in his analysis of Bach's St Matthew Passion music was simply in time Its successive events unfolded one after another but the distinction between past and future earlier and later was not central to the way the music was experienced and understood But after the shift as he finds in looking at Mozart's Don Giovanni the experience of linear time is transformed into music's essential subject matter the cycle of time unbends and becomes an arrow Berger complements these musical case studies with a rich survey of the philosophical theological and literary trends influencing artists during this period
