The Zinn Reader Writings On Disobedience And Democracy:

The Zinn Reader Howard Zinn, 2011-01-04 No other radical historian has reached so many hearts and minds as Howard Zinn. It is rare that a historian of the Left has managed to retain as much credibility while refusing to let his academic mantle change his beautiful writing style from being anything but direct, forthright and accessible. Whether his subject is war, race, politics, economic justice or history itself, each of his works serves as a reminder that to embrace one's subjectivity can mean embracing one's humanity; that heart and mind can speak with one voice. Here in six sections is the historian's own choice of his shorter essays on some of the most critical problems facing America throughout its history and today. Reading, Learning, Teaching Howard Zinn Ed Welch, 2009 Howard Zinn is one of the most celebrated historians and social activists of our time. Raised in a working class family in Brooklyn, he was a shipyard worker and union organizer when World War II began. He served as a bombardier in the European Theatre, and this experience shaped his opposition to war as an instrument of foreign policy. He became active in the civil rights movement as well as the anti-war movement from the 1950s to the 1970s. He is perhaps best known as the author of A People's History of the United States, published in 1980. This study of Zinn's life and work opens the door to many aspects of historical study generally untouched in traditional secondary and collegiate survey courses in United States history. To Zinn, history is not an objective account of the past to be indelibly carved into the brains of American citizens; rather, history is an ever-changing palette of events as people react to the contexts and cultures they find themselves immersed in. By considering the lives and thoughts of less politically and socially prominent individuals, students have the opportunity to re-examine their own beliefs and assumptions about contemporary American life. Students will gain insight into how history is constructed and recorded through a consideration of the life and writings of Howard Zinn. Agitation with a Smile Stephen Bird, Adam Silver, Joshua C. Yesnowitz, 2015-11-17 Agitation with a Smile offers a reappraisal of Howard Zinn's political thought and situates his efforts in a contemporary context, looking toward the nature of activism and dissent in the future. This is the first book to provide a substantive account and assessment of Zinn's philosophy and approach to collective action and to a larger extent, democracy. The contributors to this book explore the most effective mechanisms by which to arouse public support for seemingly radical positions and how current technological advancements may alter our perception of Zinn's activism. The book is a valuable guide to a new generation of activists and scholars of politics in gauging the lasting relevance and legacy of Zinn's ideals, concepts and methodology. The text is neither fawning nor unduly critical, unlike many discussions of Zinn in popular culture. Rather, the contributors engage the various complexities and tensions present throughout Zinn's work and subject them to contemporary assessment. This is a multidisciplinary and international approach to Howard Zinn's intellectual and activist canon. Disobedience in Western Political Thought Raffaele Laudani, 2013-08-19 The global age is distinguished by disobedience, from the protests in Tiananmen Square to the fall of the Berlin Wall to the anti-G8 and anti-WTO demonstrations. In this book, Raffaele Laudani offers a systematic review of how disobedience has been conceptualized supported and criticized throughout history Laudani documents the appearance of disobedience in the political lexicon from ancient times to the present and explains the word's manifestations showing how its semantic wealth transcended its liberal interpretations in the 1960s and 1970s Disobedience Laudani finds is not merely an alternative to revolution and rebellion but a different way of conceiving radical politics one based on withdrawal of consent and defection in relation to the established order

Considering Class Kevin M. Cahill (Professor of Philosophy),Lene Johannessen,2007 In the 21st century hardly any aspects of human existence are left unexplored by postmodern theories and discourses of subjectivity and individuality of hybridity and identity of race gender and ethnicity Conspicuous however among these critical inquiries is the relatively little attention devoted to the category of class This absence is particularly alarming at a time when neo liberalism and post capitalism feed on cultural fragmentation and ideological relativism The contributions in Considering Class Essays on the Discourse of the American Dream address the dysfunctional position of class in American socio political and cultural reality from a variety of disciplinary perspectives While it is open to debate whether class is more resistant to being relativized than other categories there is increasing recognition that class remains a critical category with the potential to transcend the rifts and divisions that run along lines of race ethnicity and gender and with the potential to reconfigure the current American political landscape

Generations of Social Movements Hélène Le Dantec Lowry, Ambre Ivol, 2015-11-17 French political culture has long been seen as a model of leftist militancy while the left in the United States is often perceived in terms of organizational discontinuity Yet the crisis of social democracy today suggests that at a time when the archetypal European welfare state is in danger critics and citizens interested in understanding or reviving progressive politics are invited to consider the United States where modes of creative activism recurrently demonstrate potentialities for a renewed leftist culture Using a transatlantic perspective this volume identifies activist influence through the designation or rejection of specific intellectual and militant figures across generations and it examines various narrative modes used by militants to write their own history

A Chance for Change Crystal R. Sanders, 2016-02-10 In this innovative study Crystal Sanders explores how working class black women in collaboration with the federal government created the Child Development Group of Mississippi CDGM in 1965 a Head Start program that not only gave poor black children access to early childhood education but also provided black women with greater opportunities for political activism during a crucial time in the unfolding of the civil rights movement Women who had previously worked as domestics and sharecroppers secured jobs through CDGM as teachers and support staff and earned higher wages The availability of jobs independent of the local white power structure afforded these women the freedom to vote in elections and petition officials without fear of reprisal But CDGM's success antagonized segregationists at both the local and state levels who eventually defunded it Tracing the stories of the more than 2 500 women who staffed Mississippi's CDGM preschool centers Sanders's book remembers women who went beyond teaching children their shapes and colors to challenge the state's closed political system and white supremacist ideology and offers a profound example for future community organizing in the South

Crossing the Line Rosalie G. Riegler, 2013-01-01 Of course let us have peace we cry but at the same time let us have normalcy let us lose nothing let our lives stand intact let us know neither prison nor ill repute nor disruption of ties There is no peace because there are no peacemakers There are no makers of peace because the making of peace is at least as costly as the making of war at least as exigent at least as disruptive at least as liable to bring disgrace and prison and death in its wake Daniel Berrigan No Bars to Manhood More than sixty five peacemakers have contributed oral narratives to this compelling history of those who say no to war making in the strongest way possible by engaging in civil disobedience and paying the consequences in jail or prison Crossing the Line gives voice to often neglected social history and provides provocative stories of actions trials and imprisonment This fascinating volume serves as an excellent supplement to conventional histories Almost all the storytellers here are people of faith or are inspired by those who live by faith Many work at conventional careers some do full time peacemaking by living in Catholic Worker houses or in the Jonah House community several are priests and nuns who minister worldwide Also featured are three resisters prominent in War Resisters League history From World War II conscientious objectors to contemporary activists these narrators have refused to be helpless in the face of a violent world and have said with their bodies that they do not accept the status quo of permanent war and war preparation In short the voices illustrate hope at a time when it seems in short supply
