Student and Teacher Writing Motivational Beliefs Steve Graham, Gary A. Troia, Gustaf Bernhard Uno Skar, 2024-06-21 The study of students motivational beliefs about writing and how such beliefs influence writing has increased since the publication of John Hays 1996 model of writing This model emphasized that writers motivational beliefs influence how and what they write Likewise increased attention has been devoted in recent years to how teachers motivational beliefs about writing especially their efficacy to teach writing impact how writing is taught and how students progress as writers As a result there is a need to bring together in a Research Topic studies that examine the role and influence of writing beliefs Historically the psychological study of writing has focused on what students write or the processes they apply when writing Equally important but investigated less often are studies examining how writing is taught and how teachers efforts contribute to students writing What has been less prominent in the psychological study of writing are the underlying motivational beliefs that drive or inhibit students writing or serve as catalysts for teachers actions in the classroom when teaching writing This Research Topic will bring together studies that examine both students and teachers motivational beliefs about teaching writing This will include studies examining the operation of such beliefs how they develop cognitive and affective correlates how writing motivational beliefs can be fostered and how they are related to students writing achievement By focusing on both students and teachers beliefs the Research Topic will provide a more nuanced and broader picture of the role of motivation beliefs in writing and writing instruction This Research Topic includes papers that address students motivational beliefs about writing teachers motivational beliefs about writing or teaching writing Students motivational beliefs about writing include beliefs about the value and utility of writing writing competence attitudes toward writing goal orientation motives for writing identity epistemological underpinnings writing and attributions for success

failure as examples Teacher motivational include these same judgements as well as beliefs about their preparation and their students competence and progress as writers to provide additional examples This Research Topic is interested in papers that examine how such beliefs operate develop are related to other cognitive and affective variables how they are impacted by instruction and how they are related to students writing performance Submitted studies can include original research both quantitative qualitative or mixed methods meta analysis and reviews of the literature

Motivation in Learning and Performance in the Arts and Sports Adina Mornell, Frank Heuser, Margaret S. Osborne, Noa Kageyama, 2025-02-27

Motivation is a crucial factor in achieving success in any field but especially in the performing arts and sports where consistent practice discipline and creativity are required to maintain a high level of performance The science of motivation is relevant today more than ever for several reasons First motivation is a fundamental aspect of human behavior and understanding what drives individuals to perform at their best is essential in many contexts including education athletics and the workplace In this period of recovery and reset after pandemic related lockdowns knowledge about motivation can inform personal and policy decisions moving forward Second motivation is critical for achieving goals and an understanding of what motivates individuals can help them aspire to set and achieve realistic and meaningful aims Third motivation is essential for maintaining mental and physical health and wellbeing and an exploration of contributory factors can help individuals manage stress and anxiety

Motivating Writers in Class Bruce Saddler, 2023-04-14 Writing is a very complex process that is difficult to teach learn and research Although many students struggle with writing composing often presents major challenges for students with disabilities One area of written expression that presents particular difficulties for students with disabilities is motivation Motivation is a key aspect of written expression that helps all writers complete difficult composing tasks However students with disabilities may have more negative motivational patterns and may also be less positive about writing and their ability as writers than their normally achieving peers Logically this means that effective writing intervention efforts must not only address how to write but must also articulate methods to increase students motivation to write This book written for teachers scholars and researchers focuses on the essential issue of helping students learn how to want to write Each contributing author presents an important theoretical or pedagogical element of writing motivation for example The historical beginnings of research in this area Conceptual and methodological advances in the field of motivation to write Developmental trajectories of writing motivation in typical and atypical populations The effect of playful writing tasks on the development of writing ability as well as on motivation to write The impact of writing prompts on motivation How reading motivation relates and supports writing motivation This book was originally published as a special issue of Reading and Writing Quarterly

Handbook of Writing Research , Handbook of Research on Teacher Practices for Diverse Writing Instruction Hodges, Tracey S.,2022-05-20 The art and practice of writing is complex and multidimensional students often apply unique writing styles As such educators must apply focused teaching methods to nurture these unique forms of writing Educators must stay up to date with the practices for diverse writing instruction in order to best engage with a diverse classroom However resources related to writing typically do not focus on the depth and breadth of writing and there is a need for a resource that offers a comprehensive look at diverse writing instruction research The Handbook of Research on Teacher Practices for Diverse Writing Instruction provides a rich discussion of the issues perspectives and methods for writing instruction currently in use with an added lens focusing on diversity and equity It provides unique coverage on the topic of writing instruction for practical implementation within the classroom setting Covering topics such as student motivation curriculum development and content area instruction this major reference work is an essential resource for preservice teachers faculty and administration of K 12 and higher education academic libraries government officials school boards researchers and academicians

How to Enhance Learning Efficiency When Online Learning is Popular and Indispensable: Theory, Research and Practice Rong Lian,Chang Liu ,Juzhe Xi,2024-07-17 Online learning has become more and more common globally whether for comfort adapting to work hours or just having the freedom to study from anywhere And now under the coronavirus pandemic as people are having to stay at home it has become more important than ever Although the popularity of wireless network and portable smart device makes it possible for people to acquire and learn knowledge anytime and anywhere it does not necessarily mean an increased learning performance Relevant research in cognitive science has revealed possible limitations in online learning For example the knowledge acquired through online learning tends to be fragmented and lacks guidance for integrated thinking among different subjects which makes it difficult for learners to form a systematic knowledge structure Learners may experience cognitive overload metacognitive illusion and low learning efficiency in self regulated learning It follows that in the post COVID 19 era online learning puts forward new requirements and challenges to the contemporary students not only to their learning strategies but positive character traits in learning Most of the current learning theories were developed in the early 20th century and may not fit in well with the current situation then possibly leading to inefficient learning and increased learning burden Therefore it is necessary and important to reexplore the influencing factors and mechanisms that affect the learning efficiency of students at all levels nowadays based on which we could construct a theoretical model of efficient learning model The Roles of Social Media in Education: Affective, Behavioral, and Cognitive Dimensions Hung Phu Bui, Mark Bedoya Ulla, Veronico N. Tarrayo, Chien Thang Pham, 2023-10-24 technologies in education A large body of research has attempted to measure the extent to which social media change human communication In education researchers and educators have employed social media to increase students engagement inside and outside the classroom They have been exploring the effects of the use of social media on the learning outcome and learners beliefs and experiences However some of their endeavors are inconclusive As the effects of social media in education are context sensitive research results reflecting different contexts around the world will contribute to the literature on social media and education Student engagement in learning a growing interest in educational research is widely believed to contribute to the success of learning The contemporary literature shows that students can engage in learning affectively behaviorally and cognitively Recent studies are also interested in using technology to mediate students social and metacognitive engagement in learning As student engagement is a multidimensional area interdisciplinary studies have recently expanded their literature The use of social media to increase student engagement in learning remains underexplored Handbook of Educational Psychology Patricia A.
