Theology And The Arts Encountering God Through Music Art And Rhetoric:

Theology and the Arts Richard Viladesau, 2000 In recent years the topic of beauty has come into increasing prominence in a number of fields including theology This book explores several aspects of the relation between theology and aesthetics in both the pastoral and academic realms The underlying motif of the book is that beauty is a means of divine revelation and that art is the human mediation that both enables and limits its revelatory power Using examples from music pictorial art and rhetoric the five chapters explore different aspects of the ways that art enters into theology and theology into art both in pastoral practice for example liturgical music sacred art and preaching and in the realm of systematic reflection where the author contends art must be recognized as a genuine theological text The central chapters are followed by a discography of illustrative musical works and lists of Internet sites of sacred art and art history resources that will complement the text

Alan

Smith, 2013-06-07 This book brings the emerging fields of practical theology and theology of the arts into a dialogue beyond the bias of modern systematic and constructive theology The authors draw upon postmodern post secular feminist liberation and dialogical dialectical philosophy and theology and their critiques of the narrow modern emphases on reason and the scientific method as the model for all knowledge Such a practical theology of the arts focuses the work of theology on the actual practices that engage the arts in their various forms as the means of interpreting and understanding the nature of the communities and their members as well as the mechanisms through which these communities engage in transformative work to make persons and neighborhoods whole This book presents its theological claims through the careful analysis of several stories of communities around the world that have engaged in transformational practices through a specific art form investigating communities from Europe the Middle East South America and the U S The case studies explored include Jewish Christian Muslim Druze indigenous and sometimes agnostic subjects involved in visual art music dance theatre documentary film and literature Theology and the Arts demonstrates that the challenges of a postmodern and post secular context require a fundamental rethinking of theology that focuses on discrete practices of faithful communities rather than one dimensional theories about religion Hans Urs von Balthasar and the Phenomenology of Art Brett David Potter, 2022-09-23 The work of the influential Jesuit theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar 1905 1988 has become a common point of reference in discussing the relationship of theology and the arts However the full significance of his theological aesthetics for both the emerging field of theology and the arts as well as for interdisciplinary conversation with contemporary art and theory remains to be unfolded This book explores the ways in which Balthasar's theo-aesthetics when taken together with his theological dramatics and theo-logic yield a theologically informed phenomenology of the work of art with rich implications for contemporary theologies of art By investigating the nature and disclosure of beauty and being through art Balthasar's theological re-reading of Heidegger his theo-dramatic relation of all forms to Christ and his phenomenology of truth Balthasar's philosophical and theological insights into the nature of art are presented as a resource for a constructive theology of art which springs from the depths of his theological aesthetics

Theological Interpretation of Culture in Post-Communist Context Ivana Noble, 2016-12-05 Twenty years after the fall of Communism in Central and East Europe is an occasion to reevaluate the cultural and theological contribution from that region to the secularization post secularization debate Czech theologian Ivana Noble develops a Trinitarian theology through a close dialogue with literature music and film which formed not only alternatives to totalitarian ideologies but also followed the loss and reappearance of belief in God Noble explains that by listening to the artists the churches and theologians can deal with questions about the nature of the world memory and ultimate fulfilment in a more nuanced way Then as partakers in the search undertaken by their secular and post secular contemporaries theologians can penetrate a new depth of meaning sending out shoots from the stump of Christian symbolism Drawing on the rich cultures of Central and East Europe and both Western and Eastern theological traditions this book presents a theological reading of contemporary culture which is important not just for post Communist countries but for all who are engaged in the debate on the boundaries between theology politics and arts has grown out of the conviction that music has often been ignored in narrations of modernity's theological struggles. Featuring contributions from an international team of distinguished theologians, musicologists, and music theorists, the volume shows how music and discourse about music has remarkable powers to bring to light the theological currents that have shaped modern culture. It focuses on the concept of freedom, concentrating on the years 1740-1850, a period when freedom, especially religious and political freedom, became a burning matter of concern in virtually every stratum of Western society. The collection is divided into four sections, each focusing on a key phenomenon of this period: the rise of the concept of revolutionary freedom; the move of music from church to concert hall; the cry for eschatological justice in the work of black hymn writer and church leader Richard Allen; and the often fierce tensions between music and language. There is a particular concern to draw on a distinctively Scriptural imagination, especially the theme of New Creation, in order to elicit the key issues at stake and to suggest constructive ways forward for a contemporary Christian theological engagement with the legacies of modernity today.

Sense and Spirituality James McCullough, 2015-06-02 There is growing interest in the relationship between the arts and Christian faith. Much has been written about the arts and theology and the place of the arts in church life. Not as much has been written, however, about how the arts might actually advance spiritual formation in terms of the cumulative effect of religious experience and intentional practices. This book provides a modest step forward in that conversation, a conversation between theological aesthetics and practical theology. Understanding aesthetics as the realm of sense perception and spiritual formation as growing capacities to participate in God's purposes, James McCullough suggests how these dynamics can mutually enhance each other with the arts as an effective catalyst for this relationship. McCullough proposes an analysis of artistic communication and explores exciting examples from music, poetry, and painting which render theoretical proposals in concrete terms. This book will engage both those new to the arts and those already deeply familiar with them.

Music in Biblical Life Jonathan L. Friedmann, 2013-01-22 Music was integral to the daily life of ancient Israel. It accompanied activities as diverse as manual labor and royal processions. At key junctures and in core institutions, musical tones were used to deliver messages, convey emotions, strengthen communal bonds, and establish human-divine contact. This book explores the intricate and multifaceted nature of biblical music through a detailed look into four major episodes and genres: the Song of the Sea (Exod 15), King Saul and David's harp (1 Sam 16), the use of music in prophecy, and the Book of Psalms. This investigation demonstrates how music helped shape and define the self-identity of ancient Israel.

The Sacramentality of Music Christina Labriola, 2024-08-19 Steeped in the Catholic spiritual tradition, The Sacramentality of Music argues that musical experience, in its appeal to the entirety of the human person, can serve as a locus of encounter with the divine and an occasion of God's self-revelation in love with spiritually nurturing, ultimately transformative ends. Christina Labriola contends that this dynamic might most aptly be understood as sacramental, an all-encompassing perspective of the cosmos permeated by the divine, creative, salvific, sustaining presence. Through its participation in the mysteries of beauty and creativity its bodily and affective engagement and impact on the inner life music operates sacramentally manifesting divine realities through the tangible stuff of human experience In a thematic theological exploration that interweaves pastoral theology theological aesthetics and mysticism the reader is invited to contemplate music's sacramental potentiality and to engage the sacramentally charged music of Beethoven Bartok MacMillan Messiaen Mozart Envalds Bach P r t and Hildegard In attending to musical ways of relating to God this book invites readers into a deepening awareness of the sacramental nature of reality itself as that in which the spiritual resonance of music is grounded and reveals afresh taking musical beauty seriously in the spiritual order with repercussions for Christian living

Creation's Beauty as Revelation L. Clifton Edwards, 2014-03-05 With an interdisciplinary approach Edwards utilizes literature aesthetics world religions and continental philosophy as avenues into the theology of natural beauty This is an epistemological look at our aesthetically charged knowing of God through nature Emphasizing our embodied experience of the world Edwards examines the phenomenon of perceptual beauty while questioning traditional notions of God's metaphysical beauty Drawing upon Michael Polanyi's philosophy of science Edwards explores the human aesthetic and religious interface with the natural world This philosophical approach is then linked to the poetic Polanyi's tacit knowledge and Jean Luc Marion's saturated phenomena give support to Wordsworth's pregnant vision of the natural world This approach culminates in a re envisaging of John Ruskin's typology of natural beauty Ruskin's vision of the world can be adapted toward an understanding of natural revelation Edwards brings this Romantic theology back across the Atlantic in dialogue with American nature writers and the uniquely American experience of wilderness and frontier
