TRANSFORMATION OF MONEY Bambang Hadi

Prabowo, Sebastiana Viphindartin, Budi Sasongko, Regina Niken Wilantari, 2021-07-04 Money was created as a way to make it easier for people to get the things they want Over time the way money is used and made has changed Money is one of the earliest and most significant inventions of civilization which was essential for commerce development Without trading money it is only in the form of bartering Barter is a relationship between two people who each have something the other wants so that exchange occurs This book about the history of Money How money able to transform and able to easier to transfer base on history

Rethinking Multilateralism in Foreign Aid Viktor Jakupc, Max Kelly, Jonathan Makuwira, 2020-04-23 This edited book provides a contemporary critical and thought provoking analysis of the internal and external threats to Western multilateral development finance in the twenty first century It draws on the expertise of scholars with a range of backgrounds providing a critical exploration of the neoliberal multilateral development aid The contributions focus on how Western institutions have historically dominated development aid and juxtapose this hegemony with the recent challenges from right wing populist and the Beijing Consensus ideologies and practices This book argues that the rise of right wing populism has brought internal challenges to traditional powers within the multilateral development system External challenges arise from the influence of China and regional development banks by providing alternatives to established Western dominated aid sources and architecture From this vantagepoint Rethinking Multilateralism in Foreign Aid puts forward new ideas for addressing the current global social political and economic challenges concerning multilateral development aid This book will be of interest to researchers academics and students in the field of International Development and Global Governance decision makers at government level as well as to those working in international aid institutions regional and bilateral aid agencies and non governmental organisations

Media and Development Richard Vokes, 2017-11-15

At the start of the 21st century the relationship between media and development has never felt more important Following a series of media revolutions throughout the developing world beginning with the advent of cheap transistor radio sets in the late 1960s followed by the rapid expansion of satellite television networks in the 1990s and the more recent explosion of mobile telephony social media and the internet a majority of people living in the Global South now have access to a wide variety of Information and Communications Technologies ICTs and live in media saturated environments Yet how can radio television and mobile phones be most effectively harnessed towards the goals of purposive economic social and political change Should they be seen as primarily a provider of channels through which useful information can be delivered to target populations in the hope that such information will alter those populations existing behaviours Or should they be seen as a tool for facilitating two way communication between development providers and their recipients i e as technologies for improving participatory development Or should new media environments be approached simply as sites in which people living in the developing world can define development on their own terms This timely and original book which is based on a critical reading of the relevant literatures and on the author s own extensive primary research introduces readers to all of these questions and helps them to reach their own informed positions on each It also examines the history of and current debates regarding media representations of development Drawing on case studies from all over the world including hate radio in Rwanda theatre for development in India telenovelas in Latin America mobile banking and money in Africa and GIS and humanitarianism in Haiti it will be of interest to all undergraduate and postgraduate students of media and development international development professionals and simply to anyone with an interest in how media does can or should change the world

Development Theory and Practice in a Changing World Pádraig Carmody, 2019-04-09 Taking a critical and historical view this text explores the theory and changing practice of international development It provides an overview of how the field has evolved and the concrete impacts of this on the ground on the lives of people in the Global South Development Theory and Practice in a Changing World covers the major theories of development such as modernisation and dependency in addition to anti development theories such as post modernism and decoloniality It examines the changing nature of immanent structural conditions of development in addition to the main attempts to steer them imminent development The book suggests that the era of development as a hegemonic idea and practice may be coming to an end at the same time as it appears to have achieved its apogee in the Sustainable Development Goals as a result of the rise of ultra nationalism around the world the increasing importance of securitisation and the existential threat posed by climate change Whether development can or should survive as a concept is interrogated in the book This book offers a fresh and updated take on the past 60 years of development and is essential reading for advanced undergraduate students in areas of development geography international studies political science economics and sociology

Volunteer Tourism Jim Butcher, Peter Smith, 2015-06-05 Just a generation ago the notion that holidays should be invested with ethical and political significance would have sounded odd Today it is part of the lifestyle political landscape Volunteer tourism is indicative of the growth of lifestyle strategies intended to exhibit care and responsibility towards others less fortunate strategies aligned closely with developing one's ethical identity and sense of global responsibility It sits alongside telethons pay per click Fair Trade and ethical consumption generally as a way to make a difference Volunteer tourism involves a personal mission to address the political question of development It draws upon the private virtues of care and responsibility and disavows political narratives beyond this Critics argue that this leaves the volunteers as unwitting carriers of damaging neoliberal or postcolonial assumptions whilst advocates see it as offering creative and practical ways to build a new ethical politics By contrast this volume analyses volunteer tourism as indicative of a retreat from public politics into the realm of private experience and as an expression of diminished political and moral agency This thought provoking book draws on development political and sociological theory and is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in the phenomenon of volunteer tourism and the politics of lifestyle that it represents

Alternative Development Cathrine Brun, Piers Blaikie, 2016-03-23 This book brings together a collection of essays that discuss alternative development and its relevance for local global processes of marginalization and change in the Global South Alternative development questions who the producers of development knowledges and practices are and aims at decentring development and geographical knowledge from the Anglo American centre and the Global North It involves resistance to dominant political economic processes in order to further the possibilities for non exploitative and just forms of development By discussing how to unravel marginalization and voice change through alternative methods actors and concepts the book provides useful guidance on understanding the relationship between theory and practice The main strength of the book is that it calls for a central role for alternative development in the current development discourse most notably related to justice rights globalization forced migration conflict and climate change The book provides new ways of engaging with alternative development thinking and making development alternatives relevant
