Theories of Research Methodology Lior Gideon, 2008

Handbook of Survey Methodology for the Social Sciences Lior Gideon, 2012-06-21 Surveys enjoy great ubiquity among data collection methods in social research they are flexible in questioning techniques in the amount of questions asked in the topics covered and in the various ways of interactions with respondents Surveys are also the preferred method by many researchers in the social sciences due to their ability to provide quick profiles and results Because they are so commonly used and fairly easy to administer surveys are often thought to be easily thrown together But designing an effective survey that yields reliable and valid results takes more than merely asking questions and waiting for the answers to arrive Geared to the non statistician the Handbook of Survey Methodology in Social Sciences addresses issues throughout all phases of survey design and implementation Chapters examine the major survey methods of data collection providing expert guidelines for asking targeted questions improving accuracy and quality of responses while reducing sampling and non sampling bias Relying on the Total Survey Error theory various issues of both sampling and non sampling sources of error are explored and discussed By covering all aspects of the topic the Handbook is suited to readers taking their first steps in survey methodology as well as to those already involved in survey design and execution and to those currently in training Featured in the Handbook The Total Survey Error sampling and non sampling errors Survey sampling techniques The art of question phrasing Techniques for increasing response rates A question of ethics what is allowed in survey research Survey design face to face phone mail e mail online computer assisted Dealing with sensitive issues in surveys Demographics of respondents implications for future survey research Dealing with nonresponse and nonresponse bias The Handbook of Survey Methodology in Social Sciences offers how to clarify for researchers in the social and behavioral sciences and related disciplines including sociology criminology criminal justice social psychology education public health political science management and many other disciplines relying on survey methodology as one of their main data collection tools

Substance Abusing Inmates Lior Gideon, 2010-03-03 In a manner similar to asking an immigrant to describe his her first few months and even their first year in the country they migrate to asking released inmates how they reform their lives is the key to unlocking their individual Pandora Box Anyone who ever went through the migration process experienced many of the same difficulties encountered by those who are released from incarceration and try to rehabilitate their life There are more than nine million people imprisoned worldwide and it is known that the majority of them will be released back to the community Currently in the United States there are about 700 000 people reentering society after serving time in state and federal prisons These numbers are much higher for jail inmates who are estimated by the millions each year Considering the fact that more than two thirds of offenders sentenced to jails and prisons have histories of substance abuse reentry and reintegration practices become even more of a challenge This book is a product of an original study that examined inmates who participated in a prison based therapeutic community and were followed for up to seven years after their release It will describe the challenges faced by rehabilitated addicts who were released from a prison based therapeutic community and their journey to freedom freedom from drugs and freedom from further involvement in criminal activity Police Policy Shifts After 9/11 Mohsen Alizadeh,2019-12-17 This volume addresses the impact of the September 11th terror attacks on funded programs in policing Comparing New York City s policing community policing and homeland security programs this brief examines twenty four years of federal grants to identify shifts in policy Using focusing events and moral panic theories it posits that 9 11 served as a catalyst to change public policy moving policing programs in the direction of homeland security With a before after study design this volume empirically assesses policy shifts to better understand the influence of events and of funding on policing models This brief will be useful to researchers of policing law enforcement officials and policymakers Just Methods Alison M. Jaggar,2015-11-17 The supplemented edition of this important reader includes a substantive new introduction by the author on the changing nature of feminist methodology It takes into account the implications of a major new study included for this first time in this book on poverty and gender in equality and it includes an article discussing the ways in which this study was conducted using the research methods put forward by the first edition This article begins by explaining why a new and better poverty metric is needed and why developing such a metric requires an alternative methodological approach inspired by feminism Feminist research is a growing tradition of inquiry that aims to produce knowledge not biased by inequitable assumptions about gender and related categories such as class race religion sexuality and nationality Just Methods is designed for upper level undergraduate and graduate students in a range of disciplines Rather than being concerned with particular techniques of inquiry the interdisciplinary readings in this book address broad questions of research methodology They are designed to help researchers think critically and constructively about the epistemological and ethical implications of various approaches to research selection and research design evidence gathering techniques and publication of results A key theme running through the readings is the complex interrelationship between social power and inequality on the one hand and the production of knowledge on the other A second and related theme is the inseparability of research projects and methodologies from ethical and political values Communication Research Methods Mr. Rohit Manglik,2023-11-23 Methods for conducting research in media and communication fields
