Theories Personality Jess Feist:

Theories of Personality Gregory Feist, Gregory J. Feist, Tomi-Ann Roberts, Jess Feist, 2020-05-28 What makes people behave as they do Are people ordinarily aware of what they are doing or are their behaviors the result of hidden unconscious motives Are some people naturally good and others basically evil Or do all people have potential to be either good or evil Is human conduct largely a product of nature or is it shaped mostly by environmental influences Can people freely choose to mold their personality or are their lives determined by forces beyond their control Are people best described by their similarities or is uniqueness the dominant characteristic of humans What causes some people to develop disordered personalities whereas others seem to grow toward psychological health These questions have been asked and debated by philosophers scholars and religious thinkers for several thousand years but most of these discussions were based on personal opinions that were colored by political economic religious and social considerations Then near the end of the 19th century some progress was made in humanity's ability to organize explain and predict its own actions The emergence of psychology as the scientific study of human behavior marked the beginning of a more systematic approach to the study of human personality This edition continues to emphasize the strong and unique features of earlier editions namely the overviews near the beginning of each chapter a lively writing style the thought provoking concepts of humanity as seen by each theorist and the structured evaluations of each theory

Understanding New Religious Movements John A Saliba, 2004-09-08 Discussions of any religion can easily raise passions But arguments tend to become even more heated

when the religion under discussion is characterized as new Divisions around the study of new religious movements NRMs or cults or nontraditional or alternative or emergent religions are so acute that there is even controversy over what to call them John Saliba strives to bring balance to these discussions by offering perspectives on new religions from different academic perspectives history psychology sociology law theology and counseling This approach provides rich descriptions of a broad range of movements while demonstrating how the differing aims of the disciplines can create much of the controversy around NRMs The new second edition has been updated and revised throughout and includes a new foreword by noted historian of religion J Gordon Melton For classes in religion or the social sciences or for interested individuals Understanding New Religious Movements offers the most objective introduction possible

Multidimensional Personality and Attitudes of College of Teacher Educators towards Teaching Profession Dr Mohammad Haneef,2020-12-30 1 1 OVERVIEW The teacher has an obvious interest in the determinants of personality Only by knowing where personality comes from can he decide the extent to which the personalities of the children in his class are fixed by what happens outside school and the extent to which they can be altered by what happens inside it Personality is the result of interaction between inherited and environmental factors and we need now to look at the evidence for this view taking heredity first The first three years of life during which as we have seen the effects of maternal deprivation seem particularly hard to reverse are an example of what the psychologist calls a critical period in the development of the child A critical period is in fact any stage in human or animal development during which the organism is maximally sensitive to the presence of certain kinds of stimuli Denied these stimuli behaviour which is regarded as characteristic of the species concerned does not develop even though there is often a considerable gap in time between the critical period and the age at which the behaviour normally occurs Thus deprived of mothering themselves in infancy Harlow's monkeys grew up incapable of mothering their own young and the same may well hold true for humans as any veteran social worker who has watched the depressing cycle of aggressive and violent mothering styles pass from one generation to the next will readily attest

Personality Matters Olha Lehka-Paul,2020-12-01 The analysis of translated texts and investigations into the cognitive mechanisms involved in the process of translation are burgeoning areas of research in translation studies Personality Matters ventures into a previously uncharted territory in its exploration of the psychological and cognitive characteristics of a translator Combining psychology and translation process research this groundbreaking study identifies personality traits that distinguish translators from non translators and shows that the translator's personality matters in translation especially in the process of self revision The individual translator thus stands central in Personality Matters making this book a topical contribution to translation studies as it continues to evolve in taking account of the people behind the ubiquity of translation in the modern globalized world
