A Threatened Rural Idyll? Informal social control, exclusion and the resistance to change in the English countryside Nathan Aaron Kerrigan, 2019-06-01 Issues concerning globalisation protection of identity and resistance to change at the national level e g Brexit have been the cause of much public and scholarly debate With this in mind this book demonstrates how these national and indeed global narratives have impacted on and are influenced by going ons in local contexts By situating these national narratives within a rural context Kerrigan expertly explores through ethnographic research how similar consequences of informal social control and exclusion are maintained in rural England in order to protect rural identity from social and infrastructural change Drawing on observation participant observation and in depth interviews A Threatened Rural Idyll illustrates how residents from a small but developing rural town in the South of England perceived changes associated with globalisation such as population growth inappropriate building developments and the influx of service industries For many of the residents particularly those of middle class status and long standing in the town these changes were seen as a direct threat to the rural character of the town The investigation highlights how community dynamics and socio spatial organisation of daily life work to protect the rural traditions inherent in the social and spatial landscape of the town and to maintain the dominance of its largely white middle class character As a result Kerrigan contends that the resistance to change has the consequence of constructing a social identity that attempts to reinforce the notions of a rural idyll to the exclusion of processes and people seen as representing different values and ideals

Phenomenology of Community Activism Nora Amath,2015-12-01 The Phenomenology of Community Activism explores how MCSOs have responded to the challenges of the Australian socio political context the perceived impact of these experiences and how Islam is manifested within the contexts of these experiences In contrast to much publicised jihadist and radical groups MCSOs are far more representative of Muslim communities and integral to the long term position of Islam in Australia This book offers researchers policy makers and those engaged in community development a rich understanding of Muslim community building engagement and agency This book reveals what will be surprising to some that there are many and varied MCSOs in Australia that in many ways they are similar to other civil society organisations serve similar purposes and encounter similar issues This is a very important datum to stand against the prejudices about Muslims and their organisations Professor Emeritus Gary Bouma Emeritus Professor of Sociology at Monash University UNESCO Chair in Intercultural and Interreligious Relations Asia Pacific Islamic Studies Series Volume 19 Sentencing and Punishment Susan Easton,Christine Piper,2012-06-14 This text presents an overview of sentencing and punishment from penological social policy and legal perspectives It provides an accessible account of the changing attitudes of the public policy makers and the judiciary regarding what constitutes just punishment The Oxford

Handbook of Sport and Society Lawrence A. Wenner,2022 The Oxford Handbook of Sport and Society is the premier comprehensive and interdisciplinary work for readers looking to understand key areas of inquiry about the role and impacts of sport in contemporary culture Through fifty seven chapter treatments from leading international scholars on sport s impact on key aspects of our lives the Handbook is essential reading for any reader trying to understand the outsized ways in which sport has become more than a game Health Equity, Social Justice and Human Rights Ann Taket,2012-05-04

Important links between health and human rights are increasingly recognised and human rights can be viewed as one of the social determinants of health Furthermore a human rights framework provides an excellent foundation for advocacy on health inequalities a value based alternative to views of health as a commodity and the opportunity to move away from public health action being based on charity This text demystifies systems set up for the protection and promotion of human rights globally regionally and nationally It explores the use and usefulness of rights based approaches as an important part of the tool box available to health and welfare professionals and community members working in a variety of settings to improve health and reduce health inequities Global in its scope Health Equity Social Justice and Human Rights presents examples from all regions of the world to illustrate the successful use of human rights approaches in fields such as HIV AIDS improving accessibility to essential drugs reproductive health women s health and improving the health of marginalised and disadvantaged groups Understanding human rights and their interrelationships with health and health equity is essential for public health and health promotion practitioners as well as being important for a wide range of other health and social welfare professionals This text is valuable reading for students practitioners and researchers concerned with combating health inequalities and promoting social justice Handbook of the Sociology of Death, Grief, and Bereavement Neil Thompson, Gerry R. Cox, 2017-04-28 The Handbook of the Sociology of Death Grief and Bereavement sets issues of death and dying in a broad and holistic social context Its three parts explore classical sociology developments in sociological thought and the ways that sociological insights can be useful across a broad spectrum of grief related topics and concerns Guidance is given in each chapter to help spur readers to examine other topics in thanatology through a sociological lens Scholars students and professionals will come away from the handbook with a nuanced understanding of the social context cultural differences power relations the role of social processes and institutions and various other sociological factors that shape grief experiences Legal Protection of Vulnerable Groups in Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia and Poland Agnė Limantė, Dovilė Pūraitė-Andrikienė, 2022-08-27 This book analyses the current legal situation and protection of vulnerable groups in Lithuania Latvia Estonia and Poland In recent decades national legislation in many European states has especially focused on vulnerable groups with the aim of securing their enhanced protection and social inclusion This trend is also noticeable in North Eastern Europe where the legal frameworks are constantly being revised to address the needs of vulnerable parts of society including women children the elderly people with disabilities and minorities as well as prisoners and victims of crime But despite these positive changes many challenges persist In this book the authors provide a comprehensive comparative analysis of legal regulations and practices intended to protect vulnerable groups in Lithuania Latvia Estonia and Poland and in the process share insights into the current situation and trends in this often overlooked region Part I introduces readers to the topic by defining the concept of vulnerable groups and elaborating on its understanding in the European and national contexts Part II analyses the legal protection of groups characterised by inherent and or circumstantial vulnerability while Part III addresses specific crime related vulnerability issues in the target region In closing Part IV puts the spotlight on three specific vulnerable groups in the discussed countries Urban Social Sustainability M. Reza Shirazi, Ramin Keivani, 2019-01-22 This ground breaking volume raises radical critiques and proposes innovative solutions for social sustainability in the built environment Urban Social Sustainability provides an in depth insight into the discourse and argues that every urban intervention has a social sustainability dimension that needs to be taken into consideration and incorporated into a comprehensive and cohesive urban agenda that is built on three principles of recognition integration and monitoring This should be achieved through a dialogical and reflexive process of decision making To achieve sustainable communities social sustainability should form the basis of a constructive dialogue and be interlinked with other areas of sustainable development This book underlines the urgency of approaching social sustainability as an urban agenda and goes on to make suggestions about its formulation Urban Social Sustainability consists of original contributions from academics and experts within the field and explores the significance of social sustainability from different perspectives Areas covered include urban policy transportation and mobility urban space and architectural form housing urban heritage neighbourhood development and urban governance Drawing on case studies from a number of countries and world regions the book presents a multifaceted and interdisciplinary understanding from social sustainability in urban settings and provides practitioners and policy makers with innovative recommendations to achieve more socially sustainable urban environment The SAGE Handbook of Interview Research Jaber F. Gubrium,James A. Holstein,Amir B. Marvasti,Karyn D. McKinney,2012-02-14 The new edition of this landmark volume emphasizes the dynamic interactional and reflexive dimensions of the research interview Contributors highlight the myriad dimensions of complexity that are emerging as researchers increasingly frame the interview as a communicative opportunity as much as a data gathering format The book begins with the history and conceptual transformations of the interview which is followed by chapters that discuss the main components of interview practice Taken together the contributions to The SAGE Handbook of Interview Research The Complexity of the Craft encourage readers simultaneously to learn the frameworks and technologies of interviewing and to reflect on the epistemological foundations of the interview craft Dance and Cultural Difference in Aotearoa Kristie Mortimer,2021-04-24 This book provides a critical reflection on the ways dance studio teachers recognize reflect and respond to cultural difference within their dance studio classes particularly in the rural context in Aotearoa New Zealand Through dance teachers narratives it reveals the complexities of multiculturalism within dance studio classes and examines related issues of inclusion and exclusion within dance education Understanding the dance practices provided by teachers like those in rural communities within Aotearoa New Zealand is an increasingly urgent concern in an era of growing political social and cultural tensions for students and scholars of performing arts leadership and community development While previous research and publications have investigated cultural difference and global multicultural arts practices this book presents a critical lens on performing arts practice and socio cultural challenges experienced by local dance teachers within rural communities in Aotearoa New Zealand Bisexuality in Education Maria Pallotta-Chiarolli,2017-10-02 Although many schools and educational systems from elementary to tertiary level state that they endorse anti homophobic policies pedagogies and programs there appears to be an absence of education about and affirmation of bisexuality and minimal specific attention paid to bi phobia Bisexuality appears to be falling into the gap between the binary of heterosexuality and homosexuality that informs anti homophobic policies programs and practices in schools initiatives such as health education sexuality education and student welfare These erasures and exclusions leave bisexual students family members and educators feeling silenced and invisibilized within school communities Also absent is attention to intersectionality or how indigeneity gender class ethnicity rurality and age interweave with bisexuality Indeed as much research has shown erasure exclusion and the absence of intersectionality have been considered major factors in bisexual young people family members and educators in school communities experiencing worse mental emotional sexual and social health than their homosexual or heterosexual counterparts This book is the first of its kind providing an international collection of empirical research theory and critical analysis of existing educational resources relating to bisexuality in education Each chapter addresses three significant issues in relation to bisexuality and schooling erasure exclusion and the absence of intersectionality From indigenous to rural schools from tertiary campuses to elementary schools from films to picture books as curriculum resources from educational theory to the health and wellbeing of bisexual students this book s contributors share their experiences expertise and ongoing questions This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Bisexuality
