Connery, 2011-07-30 A paradigm of actuality Searching for the real and actual Stirrings and roots urban sketches and America's flaneur The storytellers Picturing the present Carving out the real Experiments in reality Documenting time and place Remaking Urban Citizenship Andrew M. Greeley, 2017-07-28 Due to heightened global migration and transnational mobility many residents of the world's cities lack national citizenship in the places to which they have moved for work refuge or retirement The disjuncture between citizenship and daily life has led to devolution of claims from national to urban space Within nation states characterized by structured inequalities citizens have not reduced their social differences This leads increasingly to calls for greater direct involvement of marginalized classes in reshaping the institutions and spaces directly affecting their lives These concerns cities without citizenship and people without political power inform the agendas of organizations that seek to restructure urban citizenship in more democratic directions Remaking Urban Citizenship focuses on the uses and limits of such political organizations and coalitions shows the various ways they pursue expanded rights within the city and describes the institutional changes necessary to empower global migrants and popular classes as urban citizens Offering individual or comparative case studies of cities in the United States Europe and China contributions to this volume describe the development of actual practices of organizations working to reinvigorate citizenship at the urban scale Collectively they locate institutional forms that help migrants lay claim to their cities show how migrants can become politically empowered and identify how they can expand their rights or find other ways to belong Walking in Cities Evrick Brown, Timothy Shortell, 2016 Walking connects the rhythms of urban life to the configuration of urban spaces As the contributors and editors show in Walking in Cities walking also reflects the systematic inequalities that order contemporary urban life Walking has different meanings because it can be a way of temporarily taking possession of urban space or it can make the relatively powerless more vulnerable to crime The essays in Walking in Cities explore how walking intersects with sociological dimensions such as gender race and ethnicity social class and power Various chapters explorethe fl neuse or female urban drifter in Tehran's shopping malls Hispanic neighborhoods in New York San Diego and El Paso and the intra neighborhood and inter class dynamics of gentrification in Greenpoint Brooklyn The essays in Walking in Cities provide important lessons about urban life Hispanic New York Claudio Iván Remeseira, 2010 Over the past few decades a wave of immigration has turned New York into a microcosm of the Americas and enhanced its role as the crossroads of the English and Spanish speaking worlds Yet far from being an alien group within a mainstream and supposedly pure Anglo America people referred to as Hispanics or Latinos have been part and parcel of New York since the beginning of the city's history They represent what Walt Whitman once celebrated as the Spanish element of our nationality

Hispanic New York is the first anthology to offer a comprehensive view of this multifaceted heritage Combining familiar materials with other selections that are either out of print or not easily accessible Claudio Iv n Remeseira makes a compelling case for New York as a paradigm of the country's Latinoization His anthology mixes primary sources with scholarly and journalistic essays on history demography racial and ethnic studies music art history literature linguistics and religion and the authors range from historical figures such as Jos Mart Bernardo Vega or Whitman himself to contemporary writers such as Paul Berman Ed Morales Virginia S nchez Korrol Roberto Suro and Ana Celia Zentella This unique volume treats the reader to both the New York and the American experience as reflected and transformed by its Hispanic and Latino Tomorrow We're All Going to the Harvest Leigh Binford, 2013-01-02 From its inception in 1966 the Canadian components Seasonal Agricultural Worker Program SAWP has grown to employ approximately 20 000 workers annually the majority from Mexico The program has been hailed as a model that alleviates human rights concerns because under contract SAWP workers travel legally receive health benefits contribute to pensions are represented by Canadian consular officials and rate the program favorably Tomorrow We re All Going to the Harvest takes us behind the ideology and examines the daily lives of SAWP workers from Tlaxcala Mexico one of the leading sending states observing the great personal and family price paid in order to experience a temporary rise in a standard of living The book also observes the disparities of a gutted Mexican countryside versus the flourishing agriculture in Canada where farm labor demand remains high Drawn from extensive surveys and nearly two hundred interviews ethnographic work in Ontario destination of over 77 percent of migrants in the author's sample and quantitative data this is much more than a case study it situates the Tlaxcala Canada exchange within the broader issues of migration economics and cultural currents Bringing to light the historical genesis of complementary labor markets and the contradictory positioning of Mexican government representatives Leigh Binford also explores the language barriers and nonexistent worker networks in Canada as well as the physical realities of the work itself making this book a complete portrait of a provocative segment of migrant labor Building Walls Ernesto Castañeda, 2019-04-15 The election of Donald Trump has called attention to the border wall and anti Mexican discourses and policies yet these issues are not new Building Walls puts the recent calls to build a border wall along the US Mexico border into a larger social and historical context This book describes the building of walls symbolic and physical between Americans and Mexicans as well as the consequences that these walls have in the lives of immigrants and Latin communities in the United States The book is divided into three parts categorical thinking anti immigrant speech and immigration as an experience The sections discuss how the idea of the nation state itself constructs borders how political strategy and racist ideologies reinforce the idea of irreconcilable differences between whites and Latinos and how immigrants and their families overcome their struggles to continue living in America They analyze historical precedents normative frameworks divisive discourses and contemporary daily interactions between whites and Latin individuals It discusses the debates on how to name people of Latin American origin and the framing of immigrants as a threat and contrasts them to the experiences of migrants and border residents Building Walls makes a theoretical contribution by showing how different dimensions work together to create durable inequalities between U S native whites Latinos and newcomers It provides a sophisticated analysis and empirical description of racializing and exclusionary processes View a separate blog for the book here https dornsife usc edu csii blog building walls excluding people Food Lit Melissa Brackney Stoeger, 2013-01-08 An essential tool for assisting leisure readers interested in topics surrounding food this unique book contains annotations and read alikes for hundreds of nonfiction titles about the joys of comestibles and cooking Food Lit A Reader's Guide to Epicurean Nonfiction provides a much needed resource for librarians assisting adult readers interested in the topic of food a group that is continuing to grow rapidly Containing annotations of hundreds of nonfiction titles about food that are arranged into genre and subject interest categories for easy reference the book addresses a diversity of reading experiences by covering everything from foodie memoirs and histories of food to extreme cuisine and food expos s Author Melissa Stoeger has organized and described hundreds of nonfiction titles centered on the themes of food and eating including life stories history science and investigative nonfiction The work emphasizes titles published in the past decade without overlooking significant benchmark and classic titles It also provides lists of suggested read alikes for those titles and includes several helpful appendices of fiction titles featuring food food magazines and food blogs Hispanic Journal of Behavioral Sciences, 2010-05
