The Death of the Author and Anticolonial Thought Michael R. Griffiths, 2025-03-20 The Death of the Author and Anticolonial Thought promises to transform a decades old debate in literary studies about the relation between structure and agency form and intention by giving a detailed account previously unstudied of the way colonized writers have responded to learned from and critiqued the death of the author postulate declared by Roland Barthes in 1967 The book is a cultural history of these debates with a particular focus on two crucial two key case studies Martinican poet and thinker douard Glissant and Palestinian literary and cultural critic Edward Said this book then examines the immediate emergence and intensification of such responses to the postulate of the author s deathly absence from the text in order to suggest that metropolitan literary theory drew both critique and engagement from scholars of black decolonial and Global South background from both before 1967 and Barthes s declaration and in its wake This book provides a focused account of the early history of the way global literatures have engaged with critiqued and occasionally adopted the lessons and limitations of the poststructuralist critique of that most fetishised and also reviled of figures the author

Edward Said's Translocations Tobias Döring, Mark Stein, 2012 In this contribution to contemporary political philosophy Jensen aims to develop a model of civil society for deliberative democracy In the course of developing the model he also provides a thorough account of the meaning and use of civil society in contemporary scholarship as well as a critical review of rival models including those found in the work of scholars such as John Rawls Jurgen Habermas Michael Walzer Benjamin Barber and Nancy Rosenblum Jensen s own ideal treats civil society as both the context in which citizens live out their comprehensive views of the good life as well as the context in which citizens learn to be good deliberative democrats According to his idealization groups of citizens in civil society are actively engaged in a grand conversation about the nature of the good life Their commitment to this conversation grounds dispositions of epistemic humility tolerance curiosity and moderation Moreover their regard for the grand conversation explains their interest in deliberative democracy and their regard for democratic virtues principles and practices Jensen is not a naive utopian however he argues that this ideal must be realized in stages that it faces a variety of barriers and that it cannot be realized without luck The Princeton

The Character of Criticism Geoffrey Galt Harpham,2013-10-28 Why are some critical texts more compelling memorable or engaging than others Can criticism be judged as a discourse of description explanation and analysis alone or do our evaluations reflect other kinds of investments in it In this book Geoffrey Galt Harpham argues that the most powerful and effective criticism demands to be read as an expression of a distinctive sensibility a way of being in the world it demands in other words to be read as a discourse of character Through a series of detailed and intimate intellectual portraits of leading critics Elaine Scarry Martha Nussbaum Slavoj Žižek and Edward Said Harpham unfolds the complex and indirect ways in which human character is expressed in criticism A final chapter on Criticism in a State of Terror assesses the contemporary situation The Character of Criticism represents not just a snapshot of contemporary criticism but a fresh
