Baghdad: An Urban History through the Lens of Literature Iman Al-Attar, 2018-09-03

In recent years, Baghdad has been viewed as a battleground for political conflicts. This interpretation has heavily influenced writings on the city. This book moves away from these perspectives to present an interdisciplinary exploration into the urban history of Baghdad through the lens of literature. It argues that urban literature is an effective complementary source to conventional historiography using in-depth analysis of texts, poems and historical narratives of non-monumental urban spaces to reveal an underexamined facet of the city's development. The book focuses on three key themes: spatial, nostalgic and reflective, to offer a new approach to the study of Baghdad's history with a view to establishing and informing further strategies for future urban developments. Beginning with the first planned city in the eighth century, it looks at the urban transformations that influenced building trends and architectural styles until the nineteenth century. It will appeal to academics and researchers in interdisciplinary fields such as architecture, urban history, Islamic studies and Arabic literature.

The book reveals how the Danube functioned not merely as a geographical feature but as a sacred entity influencing the worldview of those living along its banks. For example, archaeological findings and textual accounts uncover evidence of water deities and river worship, illustrating the Danube's sacred status. The book adopts an interdisciplinary approach, drawing from archaeology, religious studies, and history to offer a comprehensive understanding. It progresses through time, first examining pre-Roman and Roman era beliefs, then exploring the adaptations and interactions with Christianity during the Middle Ages. Finally, it analyzes the river's depiction in modern art, literature, and its impact on present-day cultural identity and environmental awareness.
