Interpreting Religion George Alfred James, 1995 The nature of what has been termed the phenomenology of religion has been the subject of controversy and confusion within the academic study of religion since the early 1950s Here George Alfred James attempts to clarify the subject through an exploration of the self understanding of three of its key exponents Pierre D niel Chantepie de la Saussaye W Brede Kristensen and Gerardus van der Leeuw Though the three are widely acknowledged to have had a decisive impact on the phenomenology of religion they are not widely studied James deals with each of the three in turn and shows how each saw his efforts as at once a historical a theological and anti reductive According to James this family of phenomenological approaches can contribute a wealth of insight to the study of religion today The author offers a groundbreaking challenge to the received image of the phenomenology of religion as an approach of merely historical interest He shows that phenomenology of religion is not a development or application of the philosophical method initiated by Edmund Husserl but an approach to religion that has its own claim to authenticity as a discipline distinct from theology from the history of religions and from contemporary social scientific approaches to religion Phenomenology of religion is revealed to be a radical departure from contemporary efforts to understand the religious dimension of human nature and culture Interpreting Religion reveals how the exponents of the phenomenology of religion were concerned with avoiding doctrinaire interpretations on the one hand and reductionism on the other and explains their varying strategies for achieving this goal It also shows how successive efforts toward a phenomenological approach to religion have addressed the weaknesses and built upon the insights of earlier efforts of this nature The book advocates a reexamination of the phenomenology of religion in the light of recent developments in post modern theology literary criticism and philosophy George Alfred James lives in Denton Texas where he is associate professor of philosophy and religion studies at the University of North Texas He has contributed articles to a variety of publications including The Journal of Religion and The Encyclopedia of Religion The National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints ,1968 This Earthly Life Matters Arnold A. van Ruler,2023-06-06 Arnold A van Ruler was one of the most original Dutch Reformed theologians of the twentieth century Through the term re creation Dutch herschepping he offers a radical affirmation of God s sustained loyalty to that which is material bodily and earthly God s work of salvation and of consummation is necessary but then for the sake of creation The path that he followed was diametrically opposed to that of Karl Barth and is also distinct from that of Jurgen Moltmann who was influenced by Van Ruler As an early exponent of Christian ecotheology Van Ruler s oeuvre provides exceptionally rich resources for contemporary debates This volume offers an English translation of selected essays by Van Ruler on the themes of God creation providence humanity sin this earthly life and animal protection It includes some famous essays for example on God and chaos the sunny side of sin joy as the fundamental Christian attitude to life and this earthly life The selection is based on volume 3 of the Dutch scholarly edition of Van Ruler s Collected Works published in 11 volumes Few of Van Ruler s texts are available in English so this volume provides a welcome addition Comparing Religions, a Limitative Approach Johannes Gerhardus Platvoet,1982 Since its founding by Jacques Waardenburg in 1971 Religion and Reason has been a leading forum for contributions on theories theoretical issues and agendas related to the phenomenon and the study of religion Topics include among others category formation comparison ethnophilosophy hermeneutics methodology myth phenomenology philosophy of science scientific atheism structuralism and theories of religion From time to time the series publishes volumes that map the state of the art and the history of the discipline Wetenschappelijk verslag ,1949 Encyclopedia of Religion ,2005 The National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints Library of Congress,American Library Association.
