assumptions theorists make about religion as an object of analysis Being Religious Mladen Turk, 2013-07-12 What makes us religious What is religion This book presents relevant research and theoretical proposals for evolutionary theories of religion and socially and ecologically adaptive theories of religion Most attempts to study religious behaviors through evolutionary biology and related disciplines are still very fragmentary Mladen Turk brings those theoretical approaches in dialogue with religious studies and theology through interpretation and critique that centers on revealing hidden theological assumptions and interpreting theoretical leaps of those approaches to religion In Being Religious Turk expounds understanding of religion as a complex interplay of various capacities arising from and influencing our biological and cultural makeup Our religious behaviors can influence our relationship towards each other and towards our environment in significant ways He shows how some aspects of complex religious behaviors can be understood better in light of human cognition and evolutionary biology At the same time he interprets this knowledge as being preliminary and at times inadequate in its claims of completeness and exhaustiveness because religious behaviors are niched within other religious behaviors and dependent on factors that various mono causal theoretical approaches cannot fully conceptualize
