The Roots Of Old Chinese Current Issues In Linguistic Theory:

The Roots of Old Chinese Laurent Sagart, 1999-01-01 The phonology morphology and lexicon of late Zhou Chinese are examined in this volume It is argued that a proper understanding of Old Chinese morphology is essential in correctly reconstructing the phonology Based on evidence from word families modern dialects and related words in neighboring languages Old Chinese words are claimed to consist of a monosyllabic root to which a variety of derivational affixes attached This made Old Chinese typologically more like modern languages such as Khmer Gyarong or Atayal than like Middle and modern Chinese where only faint traces of the old morphology remain In the first part of the book the author proposes improvements to Baxter s system of reconstruction regarding complex initials and rhymes and then reviews in great detail the Old Chinese affixal morphology New proposals on phonology and morphology are integrated into a coherent reconstruction system The second part of the book consists of etymological studies of important lexical items in Old Chinese The author demonstrates in particular the role of proportional analogy in the formation of the system of personal pronouns Special attention is paid to contact phenomena between Chinese and neighboring languages and unlike most literature on Sino Tibetan the author identifies numerous Chinese loanwords into Tibeto Burman The book which contains a lengthy list of reconstructions an index of characters and a general index is intended for linguists and cultural historians as well as advanced students

A Phonological History of Chinese Zhongwei Shen, 2020-06-04 A one stop comprehensive account of the key developments in the phonological history of Chinese

Linguistic Evidence Stephan Kepser, Marga Reis, 2008-08-22 The renaissance of corpus linguistics and promising developments in experimental linguistic techniques in recent years have led to a remarkable revival of interest in issues of the empirical base of linguistic theory in general and the status of different kinds of linguistic evidence in particular Consensus is growing a that even so called primary data from introspection as well as authentic language production are inherently complex performance data only indirectly reflecting the subject of linguistic theory b that for an appropriate foundation of linguistic theories evidence from different sources such as introspective data corpus data data from psycholinguistic experiments historical and diachronic data typological data neurolinguistic data and language learning data are not only welcome but also often necessary It is in particular by contrasting evidence from different sources with respect to particular research questions that we may gain a deeper understanding of the status and quality of the individual types of linguistic evidence on the one hand and of their mutual relationship and respective weight on the other The present volume is a collection of selected papers presented at the conference on Linguistic Evidence in Tbingen 2004 which was explicitly devoted to the above issues All of them address these issues in relation to specific linguistic research problems thereby helping to establish a better understanding of the nature of linguistic evidence in particularly insightful ways Complex Processes in New Languages Enoch Oladé Aboh, Norval Smith, 2009 In recent years there has been a new interest in evaluating complex structures in languages The implications of such studies are varied e g the distinction between supposedly more complex and less complex languages how complexity relates to human knowledge of language and the role of the reduction or increase of complexity in language change and creolization This book focuses on the latter issue but the conclusions presented here hold of typological complexity in general The chapters in this book show that the notion of complexity as conceived of in linguistics mainly centres on the outer manifestations of language e g numbers of affixes This exercise is useful in establishing the patterning of languages in terms of their degrees of analyticity or synthesis but it fails to address the properties of the inner rules of these grammars and how these relate to the computational system that governs the human language capacity Put simply issues of complexity should not be equated with the complexity observed in surface patterns of grammars alone An Introduction to Daoist Philosophies Steve Coutinho, 2013-11-19 Steve Coutinho explores in detail the fundamental concepts of Daoist thought as represented in three early texts the Laozi the Zhuangzi and the Liezi Readers interested in philosophy yet unfamiliar with Daoism will gain a comprehensive understanding of these works from this analysis and readers fascinated by ancient China who also wish to grasp its philosophical foundations will appreciate the clarity and depth of Coutinho's explanations Coutinho writes a volume for all readers whether or not they have a background in philosophy or Chinese studies A work of comparative philosophy this volume also integrates the concepts and methods of contemporary philosophical discourse into a discussion of early Chinese thought The resulting dialogue relates ancient Chinese thought to contemporary philosophical issues and uses modern Western ideas and approaches to throw new interpretive light on classical texts Rather than function as historical curiosities these works act as living philosophies in conversation with contemporary thought and experience Coutinho respects the multiplicity of Daoist philosophies while also revealing a distinctive philosophical sensibility and he provides clear explanations of these complex texts without resorting to oversimplification Paradigm Change Martine Robbeets, Walter Bisang, 2014-10-15 This book is concerned with comparing morphological paradigms between languages in order to establish areal and genealogical relationships The languages in focus are the Transeurasian languages Japanese Korean Tungusic Mongolic and Turkic languages World eminent experts in diachronic morphology and typology interact with specialists on Transeurasian languages presenting innovative theoretical analyses and new empirical facts The stress on the importance of paradigmatic morphology in historical linguistics contrasts sharply with the paucity of existing literature on the topic This volume partially fills this gap by shifting focus from Indo European to other language families Paradigm change will appeal to scholars and advanced students concerned with linguistic reconstruction language contact morphology and typology and to anyone interested in the Transeurasian languages

Dramatized Discourse Zhuo Jing-Schmidt, 2005-08-31 Language is a symbolic system of meanings evoked by linguistic forms The choice of forms in communication is non arbitrary Rather speakers pick those forms whose meanings best convey their discourse intention The meaning of the Mandarin ba construction argues Jing Schmidt is discourse dramaticity a concept that includes high conceptual salience and subjectivity The ba construction and its syntactic variations are never interchangeable because contrast in their meanings determines difference in their functions Quantitative analyses based on authentic data validate the postulation of discourse dramaticity By taking discourse pragmatics seriously the dramaticity hypothesis enables a unitary explanation that transcends sentence grammar The diachronic treatment reveals the syntactic change of the ba construction as an adaptive process of pragmatization which raises the issue of linguistic evolution as a result of socio cultural development This book will be of particular value to readers interested in the interaction between grammar and pragmatics and to teachers confronting the controversy of the ba construction in foreign language pedagogy

Medieval Tibeto-Burman Languages IV, 2012-06-22 While providing unique and detailed information on early Tibeto Burman languages and their contact and relationship to other languages this book at the same time sets out to establish a field of Tibeto Burman comparative historical linguistics based on the classical Indo European model The volume includes six papers on Tangut three on Tibetan and one each on the languages Mon Burmese Lepcha Pyu Nam and Yi Building a bridge between linguistic and literary research the range of studies treats phonology decipherment literature and religion

Intonation and Prosodic Structure Caroline Féry, 2017 This book provides a state of the art survey of intonation and prosody from a phonological perspective for advanced students and researchers in phonology

New Perspectives on Chinese Syntax Waltraud Paul, 2014-12-12 Mandarin Chinese has become indispensable for crosslinguistic comparison and syntactic theorizing It is nevertheless still difficult to obtain comprehensive answers to research questions because Chinese is often presented as an exotic language defying the analytical tools standardly used for other languages This book sets out to demystify Chinese It places controversial issues in the context of current syntactic theories and offers precise analyses based on a large array of representative data Although the focus is on Modern Mandarin earlier stages of Chinese are occasionally referred to in order to highlight striking continuities in its history VO order is one such constant factor thus invalidating the idea that Chinese went through a major word order change from OV to VO and back to OV Another claim often made for Chinese as an isolating language viz the existence of an impoverished inventory of parts of speech is likewise refuted Other long debated issues addressed here include the relevance of the dichotomy topic vs subject prominence and the role of Chinese as a recurring exception to crosscategorical harmonies posited in typological studies

Concepts of Philosophy in Asia and the Islamic World Raji C. Steineck, Ralph Weber, Robert Gassmann, Elena Lange, 2018-05-07 The contributions to Concepts of Philosophy in Asia and the Islamic World reflect upon the problems implied in the received notions of philosophy in the respective scholarly literatures They ask whether and for what reasons a text should be categorized as a philosophical text or excluded from the canon of philosophy and what this means for the concept of philosophy The focus on texts and textual corpora is central because it makes authors expose their claims and arguments in direct relation to specific sources and discourages generalized reflections on the characteristics of for example Japanese culture or the Indian mind The volume demonstrates that close and historically informed readings are the sine qua non in discussing what philosophy is in Asia and the Islamic world just as much as with regard to Western literature Contributors are Yoko Arisaka Wolfgang Behr Thomas Fr hlich Lisa Indraccolo Paulus Kaufmann Iso Kern Ralf M ller Gregor Paul Lisa Raphals Fabian Sch fer Ori Sela Rafael Suter Christian Uhl Viatcheslav Vetrov Yvonne Schulz Zinda and Nicholas Zufferey

Past Human Migrations in East Asia Alicia Sanchez-Mazas, Roger Blench, Malcolm D. Ross, Ilia Peiros, Marie Lin, 2008-07-25 The study of the prehistory of East Asia is developing very rapidly In uncovering the story of the flows of human migration that constituted the peopling of East Asia there exists widespread debate about the nature of evidence and the tools for correlating results from different disciplines Drawing upon the latest evidence in genetics linguistics and archaeology this exciting new book examines the history of the peopling of East Asia and investigates the ways in which we can detect migration and its different markers in these fields of inquiry Results from different academic disciplines are compared and reinterpreted in the light of evidence from others to attempt to try and generate consensus on methodology Taking a broad geographical focus the book also draws attention to the roles of minority peoples hitherto underplayed in accounts of the region s prehistory such as the Austronesian Tai Kadai and Altaic speakers whose contribution to the regional culture is now becoming accepted Past Human Migrations in East Asia presents a full picture of the latest research on the peopling of East Asia and will be of interest to scholars of all disciplines working on the reconstruction of the peopling of East and North East Asia

Tense and Aspect in Han Period Chinese Barbara Meisterernst, 2014-12-12 Many grammatical issues of Archaic and Medieval Chinese still lack a comprehensive analysis The book provides the first thorough investigation of the syntactic and semantic constraints of the linguistic categories tense and aspect and their relation with the lexical aspect of the verb in Han period Chinese The author uncovers fascinating details of a language with a highly restricted verbal morphology

Bibliographie Linguistique de L'annee 1999 Mark Janse, Hella Olbertz, Sijmen Tol, 2003-11-30 Setting out the historical national and religious characteristics of the Italians as they impact on the integration within the European Union this study makes note of the two characteristics that have an adverse effect on Italian national identity cleavages between north and south and the dominant role of family It discusses how for Italians family loyalty is stronger than any other allegiance including feelings towards their country their nation or the EU Due to such subnational allegiances and values this book notes that Italian civic society is weaker and engagement at the grass roots is less robust than one finds in other democracies leaving politics in Italy largely in the hands of political parties The work concludes by noting that EU membership however provides no magic bullet for Italy it cannot change internal cleavages the Italian worldview and family values or the country s mafia dominated power matrix and as a result the underlying absence of fidelity to a shared polity Italian or European leave the country as ungovernable as ever

Gradience, Gradualness and Grammaticalization Elizabeth Closs Traugott, Graeme Trousdale, 2010-02-24 This volume which emerged from a workshop at the New Reflections on Grammaticalization 4 conference held at KU Leuven in July 2008 contains a collection of papers which investigate the relationship between synchronic gradience and the apparent gradualness of linguistic change largely from the perspective of grammaticalization In addition to versions of the papers presented at the workshop the volume contains specially commissioned contributions some of which offer commentaries on a subset of the other articles The articles address a number of themes central to grammaticalization studies such as the role of reanalysis and analogy in grammaticalization the formal modelling of grammaticalization and the relationship between formal and functional change using data from a range of languages and in some cases from particular electronic corpora The volume will be of specific interest to historical linguists working on grammaticalization and general linguists working on the interface between synchrony and diachrony

Imprints of Kinship Edward L. Shaughnessy, 2017-03-15 Recent discoveries of bronze ritual vessels from ancient China provide the ground for this collection of essays which focus in particular on the nature and patterns of family lineages as seen from these artifacts found in tombs throughout north China Based on careful readings of the inscriptions on the bronze vessels the editor and his eight contributors reconstruct the genealogies kinship structures political identities and relationship networks of leading families and individuals from Bronze Age China The rich scholarship also contributes to our understanding of the archaeology chronology warfare and legal structures of ancient China The bronze inscriptions from ancient China are far too important to be left to the specialized archaeologists alone Professor Shaughnessy and his group of leading practitioners of the arcane art of teasing out the meaning implicit and explicit in these extraordinarily difficult often only recently discovered inscriptions allow us to look over their shoulders as they struggle valiantly with some of the richest sources from the earliest stages of Chinese intellectual ethnography and literary culture This volume provides the kind of hands on and well documented exploratory philology that opens up a wide field of general discussion concerning an early formative stage of Chinese civilization Christoph Harbsmeier Professor Emeritus of Chinese University of Oslo

Mapping Mongolia Paula L.W. Sabloff, 2011-06-29 With its small population and low GDP Mongolia is frequently deemed unique or tacked onto various area studies programs Inner Asia Central Asia Northeast Asia or Eurasia This volume is a response to the concern that countries such as Mongolia are marginalized when academia and international diplomacy reconfigure area studies borders in the postsocialist era Would marginalized countries such as Mongolia benefit from a reconfiguration of area studies programs or even from another way of thinking about grouping nations This book uses Mongolia as a case study to critique the area studies methodology and test the efficacy of another grouping methodology the scapes method proposed by Arjun Appadurai Could the application of this approach for tracing individuals social networks by theme finance ethnicity ideology media and technology be applied to nation states or peoples Could it then prevent Mongolia from slipping through the cracks of academia and international diplomacy Experts from ecology genetics archaeology history anthropology and international diplomacy contemplate these issues in their chapters on Mongolia through the ages Their work includes over 30 maps to help situate Mongolia in its geologic geographic economic and cultural matrix By comparing maps of different time periods and intellectual orientations readers can consider for themselves the place of Mongolia in the world community and the relative benefits of these and other grouping methodologies Content of this book s DVD ROM may be found online at this location <http://core.tdar.org/project/376589>

Historical Truth, Historical Criticism, and Ideology Helwig Schmidt-Glintzer, Achim Mittag, Jörn Rüsen, 2004-12-01 Three issues essential to our insight into the concept and function of historical consciousness and the description thereof form the core of this book historical truth historical comment and criticism and ideology including the historian s trustworthiness Taking as a point of departure the workings of these concepts in Chinese historical thinking the volume carefully draws comparisons with similar topics in the Western tradition It thus advocates and shows a truly comparative approach that sets the stage for an intercultural dialogue on this important subject The first comprehensive work on the political and cognitive dimensions of Chinese historical consciousness set against its Western counterpart
