Feminism for the Real World and Body Talk 37 Voices Explore Our Radical Anatomy Diverse Bodies, Diverse Practices Don Hanlon Johnson, 2018-09-11 A cutting edge anthology that opens the door for emergent voices from African American Indigenous Latin American and Asian embodiment traditions to transform the field of somatics The notion of body that underlies most available writings about somatic theories and practices often assumes a universal normality of structure and function that has now come into question In this collection viewpoints grounded in neural hormonal gender and physiological diversities challenge convention and open up a more inclusive world of somatics for psychotherapy and many forms of bodywork The authors embody these differences and have developed their particular somatic practices out of direct experience Their narratives offer new approaches to the transformation of our social order s bodily roots enabling a healing of the recurrent traumas of the past Covering topics such as the autistic body mind how the human body is both shaped by and shapes contemporary society and somatic psychotherapy as a trustworthy resource for healing within the African American community these poignant essays will help students and practitioners of somatics broaden the scope and efficacy of their therapeutic practices

How That Robot Made Me Feel Ericka Johnson, 2025-05-20 An edited collection that explores what emotions we have when encountering robots how we react emotionally to them in different contexts and why these emotional responses are so important Do robots or the AI that is driving them have emotions That is a hotly debated topic both in science fiction where such assertions are a staple of the narrative and in tech development where it often makes headlines But what about how we humans emotionally respond to robots Are our emotional responses any less important when it comes to how the robots we encounter today are designed In How That Robot Made Me Feel Ericka Johnson asks the authors in this collection to critically examine our emotional and affective responses to robots and what such an examination would do to the way roboticists use or toy with our emotions in their design decisions The narrative arc of this anthology follows the question of just whose emotions are being engaged through robotic interactions why and for what design ends Of course the answer is that it is our emotions that are interesting And these emotions are not universal despite the historically universalist paradigm of AI and how robotic emotions work Emotions are contingent to borrow a commonly used phrase in feminist technoscience They are placed in space time and cultural context And understanding how they are produced and engaged with will help clarify many of the political aspects of robotic interaction that are currently concealed by the shiny and allegedly neutral surfaces of robots

Ascending Republic Patrick Luiz Sullivan De Oliveira, 2025-06-10 Why and how the French made the balloon into one of the quintessential symbols of late nineteenth century modernity and how the balloon s reinvention shaped the airplane s assimilation in the early years of aviation On August 27 1783 a large crowd gathered in Paris to watch the first ascent of a hydrogen balloon Despite the initial feverish enthusiasm by the mid nineteenth century the balloon remained relatively unchanged and was no longer seen as the harbinger of a new era Yet that all changed in the last third of the century when following the traumatic Franco Prussian War defeat the balloon reemerged to become the modern artifact that captured the attention of many Through this process the balloon became an important symbol of the fledgling Third Republic and France established itself as the world leader in flight In Ascending Republic Patrick Luiz Sullivan De Oliveira tells for the first time the story of this surprising revival Through extensive research in the press and archives in France the United States and Brazil De Oliveira argues that French civil society cultivated popular enthusiasm for flight what historians call air-mindedness decades before the advent of the airplane Champions of French ballooning made the case that if the British Royal Navy controlled the seas and the Imperial German Army dominated the continent then France needed to take ownership of the skies The French appropriated this newly imagined geopolitical space through a variety of practices from republican savants who studied the atmosphere at high altitudes to aristocrats who organized transcontinental long distance competitions All of this made Paris into the global capital of a thriving aeronautical culture that incorporated seemingly contradictory visions of sacrificial patriotism aristocratic modernity colonial anxiety and technological cosmopolitanism

Who Decides? Catherine A. O'Brien, William R. Black, Arnold B. Danzig, 2022-04-01 Over the last quarter century educational leadership as a field has developed a broad strand of research that engages issues of social justice equity and diversity This effort includes the work of many scholars who advocate for a variety of equity oriented leadership preparation approaches Critical scholarship in Education Administration and Educational Politics is concerned with questions of power and in various ways asks questions around who gets to decide In this volume we ask who decides how to organize schools around criteria of ability and or disability and what these decisions imply for leadership in schools In line with this broader critical tradition of inquiry this volume seeks to interrogate policies research and personnel preparation practices which constitute interactions discourses and institutions that construct and enact ability and disability within the disciplinary field of education leadership To do so we present contributions from multidisciplinary perspectives The volume is organized around four themes 1 Leadership and Dis Ability Ontology Epistemology and Intersectionalities 2 Educational Leaders and Dis ability Policies in Practice 3 Experience and Power in Schools 4 Advocacy Leverage and the Preparation of School Leaders Intertwined within each theme are chapters which explore theoretical and conceptual themes along with chapters that focus on empirical data and narratives that bring personal experiences to the discussion of disabilities and to the multiple ways in which disability shapes experiences in schools Taken as a whole the volume covers new territory in the study of educational leadership and dis abilities at home school and work

Autism: The Movement (Sensing) Perspective a Decade Later Elizabeth B. Torres, Jonathan T. Delafield-Butt, Vikram K. Jaswal, Susan Crawford, Ashok Srinivasan, Brittany Travers, 2025-08-19 A decade ago in 2013 the Research Topic Autism the Movement Perspective proposed the radical idea that using movement and its sensations could help us better understand the many complex layers of autism spectrum disorders Inspired by earlier work from other fields the work positioned front and center approaches from neuromotor control infusing the research with new computational ideas to study autism across the human lifespan Through the lens of motor variability as a form of kinesthetic reafference causal inference and predictive codes the Research Topic brought together a group of researchers parents practitioners and self advocates to rethink autism as sensory motor differences contributing to the emergence of powerful coping mechanisms that advanced our understanding of how the human brain develops and functions Today with new improvements in biosensing technologies and neuroscience and the embodied and affective psychology on which development is based we revisit this Research Topic approaching autism anew through a modernized lens of precision aimed at enabling socio motor agency

Feedback Loops Andrew Wells Garnar,Ashley Shew,2020-11-03 In a world of information technologies genetic engineering controversies about established science and the mysteries of quantum physics it is at once seemingly impossible and absolutely vital to find ways to make sense of how science technology and society connect In Feedback Loops Pragmatism about Science Technology editors Andrew Wells Garnar and Ashley Shew bring together original writing from philosophers and science and technology studies scholars to provide novel ways of rethinking the relationships among science technology education and society Through critiquing and exploring the work of philosopher of science and technology Joseph C Pitt the authors featured in this volume investigate the complexities of contemporary technoscience writing on topics ranging from super computing to pedagogy engineering to biotechnology patents and scientific instruments to disability studies Taken together these chapters develop an argument about the necessity of using pragmatism to foster a more productive relationship among science technology and society
