Recommendations Final thoughts and call to action Prismatic Performances April Sizemore-Barber,2020-09-28 At his 1994 inauguration South African president Nelson Mandela announced the Rainbow Nation at peace with itself and the world This national rainbow notably extended beyond the bounds of racial coexistence and reconciliation to include sexual orientation as a protected category in the Bill of Rights Yet despite the promise of equality and dignity the new government's alliance with neoliberal interests and the devastation of the AIDS epidemic left South Africa an increasingly unequal society Prismatic Performances focuses on the queer embodiments that both reveal and animate the gaps between South Africa's self image and its lived realities It argues that performance has become a key location where contradictions inherent to South Africa's post apartheid identity are negotiated The book spans 30 years of cultural production and numerous social locations and includes a team of black lesbian soccer players who reveal and redefine the gendered and sexed limitations of racialized Africanness white gay performers who use drag and gender subversion to work through questions of racial and societal transformation black artists across the arts who have developed aesthetics that place on display their audiences complicity in the problem of sexual violence and a primarily heterosexual panAfrican online soap opera fandom community who by combining new virtual spaces with old melodramatic tropes allow for extended deliberation and new paradigms through which African same sex relationships are acceptable Prismatic Performances contends that when explicitly queer bodies emerge onto public stages audiences are made intimately aware of their own bodies identifications and desires As the sheen of the New South Africa began to fade these performances revealed the inadequacy and indeed the violence of the Rainbow Nation as an aspirational metaphor Simultaneously they created space for imagining new radical configurations of belonging

The Fire Is Upon Us Nicholas Buccola, 2020-09 Paperback reprint Originally published 2019 Geography and the Literary Imagination in Victorian Fictions of Empire Jean Fernandez, 2020-01-20 In this pioneering study Dr Fernandez explores how the rise of institutional geography in Victorian England impacted imperial fiction's emergence as a genre characterized by a preoccupation with space and place This volume argues that the alliance between institutional geography and the British empire which commenced with the founding of the Royal Geographical Society in 1830 shaped the spatial imagination of Victorians with profound consequences for the novel of empire Geography and the Literary Imagination in Victorian Fictions of Empire examines Presidential Addresses and reports of the Royal Geographical Society and demonstrates how geographical studies by explorers cartographers ethnologists medical topographers administrators and missionaries published by the RGS local geographical societies or the colonial state acquired relevance for Victorian fiction's response to the British Empire Through a series of illuminating readings of literary works by R L Stevenson Olive Schreiner Flora Annie Steel Winwood Reade Joseph Conrad and Rudyard Kipling the study demonstrates how nineteenth century fiction published between 1870 and 1901 reflected and interrogated geographical discourses of the time The study makes the case for the significance of physical and human geography for literary studies and the unique historical and aesthetic insights gained through this approach

Dawn of Victory Edward S. Alexander, 2015-04-01 After the unprecedented violence of the 1864 Overland Campaign Union Lt Gen Ulysses S Grant turned his gaze south of Richmond to Petersburg and the key railroad junction that supplied the Confederate capital and its defenders Nine grueling months of constant maneuver and combat around the Cockade City followed As massive fortifications soon dominated the landscape both armies frequently pushed each other to the brink of disaster As March 1865 drew to a close Grant planned one more charge against Confederate lines Despite recent successes many viewed this latest task as an impossibility and their trepidation had merit These lines might well have been looked upon by the enemy as impregnable admitted Union Maj Gen Horatio G Wright and nothing but the most resolute bravery could have overcome them Grant ordered the attack for April 2 1865 setting the stage for a dramatic early morning bayonet charge by his VI Corps across half a mile of open ground into the strongest line of works ever constructed in America Dawn of Victory Breakthrough at Petersburg by Edward S Alexander tells the story of the men who fought and died in the decisive battle of the Petersburg campaign Readers can follow the footsteps of the resolute Union attackers and stand in the shoes of the obstinate Confederate defenders as their actions decided the fate of the nation
