Homer and the Sacred City Stephen Scully, 1990 The importance of the polis in Homeric literature is most evident in the Iliad a poem concerned in large measure with the holy city of Troy Stephen Scully here deepens our understanding of both the poetic and the social significance of the city in Homer through a close analysis of the poem's formulaic language Drawing on scholarship in literary studies archaeology and comparative religion Scully demonstrates that it is the urban setting of the Iliad as well as the collision of the individual fates of its characters which generates its most profound tragic themes

Film and the City George Melnyk, 2014-05-01 Most Canadians are city dwellers a fact often unacknowledged by twentieth century Canadian films with their preference for themes of wilderness survival or rural life Modernist Canadian films tend to support what film scholar Jim Leach calls the nationalist realist project a documentary style that emphasizes the exoticism and mythos of the land Over the past several decades however the hegemony of Anglo centrism has been challenged by francophone and First Nations perspectives and the character of cities altered by a continued influx of immigrants and the development of cities as economic and technological centers No longer primarily defined through the lens of rural nostalgia Canadian urban identity is instead polyphonic diverse constructed through multiple discourses and mediums an exchange rather than a strict orientation Taking on the urban as setting and subject filmmakers are ideally poised to create and reflect multiple versions of a single city Examining fourteen Canadian films produced from 1989 to 2007 including Denys Arcand's Jus de Montr al 1989 Jean Claude Lauzon's Lolo 1992 Mina Shum's Double Happiness 1994 Cl ment Virgo's Rude 1995 and Guy Maddin's My Winnipeg 2007 Film and the City is the first comprehensive study of Canadian film and urbanity the totality of urban culture and life Drawing on film and urban studies and building upon issues of identity formation in Canadian studies Melnyk considers how filmmakers films and urban audiences experience represent and interpret urban spatiality visuality and orality In this way Film and the City argues that Canadian narrative film of the postmodern period has aided in articulating a new national identity
