Publishers Weekly, 1974 A World of Songs L.M. Montgomery, 2019-02-07 Celebrated as a novelist and made famous by her novel Anne of Green Gables and its sequels L M Montgomery 1874-1942 is far less known for also writing and publishing hundreds of poems over a period of half a century. Although this output included a chapbook and a full length collection in which she presented herself primarily as a nature poet, most of her poems appeared in periodicals including women's magazines, farm papers, faith based periodicals, daily and weekly newspapers and magazines for children. As a shrewd businesswoman, she learned to find the balance between literary quality and commercial saleability and continued to publish poetry even though it paid less than short fiction. A World of Songs: Selected Poems 1894-1921, the second volume in The L M Montgomery Library, gathers a selection of fifty poems originally published across a twenty five year period. Benjamin Lefebvre organizes this work within the context of Montgomery's life and career, claiming her not only as a nature poet but also as the author of a wider range of songs of place, of memory, of lamentation, of war, of land and sea, of death and of love. Many of these poems echo motifs that readers of Montgomery's novels will recognize and many more explore surprising perspectives through the use of male speakers. These poems offer today's readers a new facet of the career of Canada's most enduringly popular author.

The Next Instalment Wendy Roy, 2019-11-28 What happens next? That was the question asked of early twentieth century authors Nellie L McClung, L M Montgomery and Mazo de la Roche whose stories and novels appeared serially and kept readers and publishers in a state of anticipation. Each author answered through the writing and dissemination of further instalments. McClung's Pearlie Watson trilogy (1908-1921), Montgomery's Anne of Green Gables books (1908-1939) and de la Roche's Jalna novels (1927-1960) were read avidly, not just as sequels but as serials in popular and literary newspapers and magazines. A number of the books were also adapted to stage, film and television. The Next Instalment argues that these three Canadian women writers, all born in the same decade of the late nineteenth century, were influenced by early twentieth century publication, marketing and reading practices to become heavily invested in the cultural phenomenon of the continuing story. A close look at their serials, sequels and adaptations reveals that rather than existing as separate cultural productions, each is part of a cultural and material continuum that encourages repeated consumption through development and extension of the originary story. This work considers the effects that each mode of dissemination of a narrative has on the other.
