Utopianism for a Dying Planet Gregory Claeys, 2024-12-10 How the utopian tradition offers answers to today's environmental crises In the face of Earth's environmental breakdown it is clear that technological innovation alone won't save our planet A more radical approach is required one that involves profound changes in individual and collective behavior Utopianism for a Dying Planet examines the ways the expansive history of utopian thought from its origins in ancient Sparta and ideas of the Golden Age through to today's thinkers can offer moral and imaginative guidance in the face of catastrophe The utopian tradition which has been critical of conspicuous consumption and luxurious indulgence might light a path to a society that emphasizes equality sociability and sustainability Gregory Claeys unfolds his argument through a wide ranging consideration of utopian literature social theory and intentional communities He defends a realist definition of utopia focusing on ideas of sociability and belonging as central to utopian narratives He surveys the development of these themes during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries before examining twentieth and twenty first century debates about alternatives to consumerism Claeys contends that the current global warming limit of 1.5C to 2.7F will result in cataclysm if there is no further reduction in the cap In response he offers a radical Green New Deal program which combines ideas from the theory of sociability with proposals to withdraw from fossil fuels and cease reliance on unsustainable commodities An urgent and comprehensive search for antidotes to our planet's destruction Utopianism for a Dying Planet asks for a revival of utopian ideas not as an escape from reality but as a powerful means of changing it

The Lost History of Cosmopolitanism Leigh T.I. Penman, 2020-11-26 The Lost History of Cosmopolitanism challenges our most basic assumptions about the history of an ideal at the heart of modernity Beginning in antiquity and continuing through to today Leigh T I Penman examines how European thinkers have understood words like kosmopolites cosmopolite cosmopolitan and its cognates The debates over their meanings show that there has never been a single stable cosmopolitan concept but rather a range of concepts sacred and secular inclusive and exclusive all described with the cosmopolitan vocabulary While most scholarly attention in the history of cosmopolitanism has focussed on Greek and Roman antiquity or the Enlightenments of the 18th century this book shows that the crucial period in the evolution of modern cosmopolitanism was early modernity Between 1500 and 1800 philosophers theologians cartographers jurists politicians alchemists and heretics all used this vocabulary shedding ancient associations and adding new ones at will The chaos of discourses prompted thinkers to reflect on the nature of the cosmopolitan ideal and to conceive of an abstract cosmopolitanism for the first time This meticulously researched book provides the first intellectual history of an overlooked period in the evolution of a core ideal As such The Lost History of Cosmopolitanism is an essential work for anyone seeking a contextualised understanding of cosmopolitanism today

Institute of Technology Germany This book is the first major study on utopias in nonfiction film Since the publication of Thomas More's Utopia more than 500 years ago countless books have been written which describe a better world But in film positive utopias seem to be nonexistent So far research has focused almost exclusively on dystopias since positive outlooks seem to run contrary to the media's requirement Utopias in Nonfiction Film takes a new approach starting from the insight that literary utopias are first and foremost meant as a reaction to the ills of the present and not as entertaining stories it looks at documentary and propaganda films an area which so far has been completely ignored by research Combining insights from documentary research and utopian studies a vast and very diverse corpus of films is analysed Among them are Zionist propaganda films cinematic city utopias socialist films of the future as well as web videos produced by the Islamist terrorist group ISIS
