The Cassowary's Revenge Donald Tuzin,1997-09-02 Donald Tuzin first studied the New Guinea village of Ilahita in 1972 When he returned many years later he arrived in the aftermath of a startling event the village s men voluntarily destroyed their secret cult that had allowed them to dominate women for generations The cult s collapse indicated nothing less than the death of masculinity and Tuzin examines the labyrinth of motives behind this improbable self devastating act The villagers mythic tradition provided a basis for this revenge of Woman upon the dominion of Man and remarkably Tuzin himself became a principal figure in its narratives The return of the magic bearing youngest brother from America had been prophesied and the villagers believed that Tuzin s return from the dead signified a further need to destroy masculine traditions The Cassowary s Revenge is an intimate account of how Ilahita s men and women think emote dream and explain themselves Tuzin also explores how the death of masculinity in a remote society raises disturbing implications for gender relations in our own society In this light Tuzin s book is about men and women in search of how to value one another and in today s world there is no theme more universal or timely

The Symbolic System of the Giman of South Halmahera D. Teljeur,2021-11-01

Raiding the Land of the Foreigners Danilyn Rutherford,2021-01-12 What are the limits of national belonging Focusing on Biak a set of islands off the coast of western New Guinea in the Indonesian province of Irian Jaya Danilyn Rutherford s analysis calls for a rethinking of the nature of national identity With the resurgence of separatism in the province Irian Jaya has become the focus of fears that the Indonesian nation is falling apart Yet in the early 1990s the fieldwork for this book was made possible by the government s belief that Biaks were finally beginning to see themselves as Indonesians Taking in the dynamics of Biak social life and the islands long history of millennial unrest Rutherford shows how practices that indicated Biaks submission to national authority actually reproduced antinational understandings of space time and self Approaching the foreign as a focus of longing in cultural arenas ranging from kinship to Christianity Biaks participated in Indonesian national institutions without accepting the identities they promoted Their remarkable response to the Indonesian government and earlier polities laying claim to western New Guinea suggests the limits of national identity and modernity writ large This is one of the few books reporting on the volatile province of Irian Jaya It offers a new way of thinking about the nation and its limits one that moves beyond the conventions of both scholarship and recent journalism It shows how people can belong to a nation yet maintain commitments that fall both short of and beyond the nation state

Projectile Technology Heidi Knecht, 2013-06-29 Artifacts linked to projectile technologies traditionally have provided the foundations for time space systematics and cultural historic frameworks in archaeological research having to do with foragers With the shift in archaeological research objectives to processual interpretations projectile technologies continue to receive marked attention but with an emphasis on the implications of variability in such areas as design function and material as they relate to the broader questions of human adaptation The reason that this particular domain of foraging technology persists as an important focus of research I think comes in three parts A projectile technology was a crucial part of most foragers strategies for survival it was functionally specific and it generally was fabricated from durable materials likely to be detected archaeologically Being fundamental to meat acquisition and the principal source of calories projectile technologies were typically afforded greater time investment formal modification and elaboration of attributes than others Moreover such technologies tend to display greater standardization because of constraints on size morphology and weight that are inherent to the delivery system The elaboration of attributes and standardization of form gives projectile technologies time and space sensitivity that is greater than most other foraging technologies And such sensitivity is immensely valuable in archaeological research

The Foreign Encounter in Myth and Religion Kees van der Pijl, 2010-03-05 How do we think about international relations There is no question that society is based upon its cultural foundations yet this mode of understanding the world is seemingly absent from IR The second volume of Modes of Foreign Relations and Political Economy a three volume project changing the way we think about international relations traces the key characteristics of foreign encounters over time It shows that myth religion and ethical philosophies have always informed the way that societies have interacted with outsiders from tribal relations to the imperial frontiers Acceptance of this points us towards the future state of international relations A truly masterful work The Foreign Encounter In Myth And Religion is a must for upper undergraduates and academics at the cutting edge of international relations theory
