The Perception of the Environment Tim Ingold, 2000 An integrated approach to understanding how people live learn work in and perceive their environments      Ways of Walking Tim Ingold, Jo Lee Vergunst, 2008 This exciting new volume focuses on how humans inhabit their environment considering techniques of the body and walking behaviours to better understand the variety of embodied meanings Its original collection of work has contributions from anthropologists sociologists geographers and specialists in education and architecture offering a broad readership of new innovative and previously overlooked ideas      The Archaeology of Personhood Chris Fowler, 2004-08-02 The Archaeology of Personhood discusses what it means to be human and by drawing on examples from European prehistory discusses the implications that contemporary understandings of personhood have on archaeological interpretation      2003 Lectures P J

Marshall, 2005-01-20 Volume 125 of the Proceedings of the British Academy contains 15 lectures delivered at the British Academy in 2003      Routledge Handbook of Environmental Anthropology Helen Kopnina, Eleanor

Shoreman-Ouimet, 2016-08-12 Environmental Anthropology studies historic and present human environment interactions This volume illustrates the ways in which today s environmental anthropologists are constructing new paradigms for understanding the multiplicity of players pressures and ecologies in every environment and the value of cultural knowledge of landscapes This Handbook provides a comprehensive survey of contemporary topics in environmental anthropology and thorough discussions on the current state and prospective future of the field in seven key sections As the contributions to this Handbook demonstrate the subfield of environmental anthropology is responding to cultural adaptations and responses to environmental changes in multiple and complex ways As a discipline concerned primarily with human environment interaction environmental anthropologists recognize that we are now working within a pressure cooker of rapid environmental damage that is forcing behavioural and often cultural changes around the world As we see in the breadth of topics presented in this volume these environmental challenges have inspired renewed foci on traditional topics such as food procurement ethnobiology and spiritual ecology and a broad new range of subjects such as resilience nonhuman rights architectural anthropology industrialism and education This volume enables scholars and students quick access to both established and trending environmental anthropological explorations into theory methodology and practice      The

Routledge Research Companion to Heritage and Identity Peter Howard, 2016-03-16 Heritage represents the meanings and representations conveyed in the present day upon artifacts landscapes mythologies memories and traditions from the past It is a key element in the shaping of identities particularly in the context of increasingly multicultural societies This Research Companion brings together an international team of authors to discuss the concepts ideas and practices that inform the entwining of heritage and identity They have assembled a wide geographical range of examples and interpret them through a number of disciplinary lenses that include geography history museum and heritage studies archaeology art history history anthropology and media studies This outstanding companion offers scholars and graduate students a thoroughly up to date guide to current thinking and a comprehensive reference to this growing field

Archaeological Perspectives on Contested and Political Landscapes Eduardo Herrera Malatesta, 2025-10-01 This book focuses on alternative definitions of landscape in archaeology particularly those that explicitly address landscapes political aspects In doing so this volume emphasizes the non static dialogic nature of landscape within a community and acknowledges how a community s composition and its relationship with the landscape can lead to tensions and even violent conflicts with other groups It highlights the relevance of considering movement borders and conflict as sources for understanding how people create their own landscapes and how they reshape them in times of political conflict For example in contexts of colonization and war people are forced to adapt to new politics and hierarchies as they see their personal and communal understanding of the world deeply transformed something visible even today as political tensions constantly reshape local and global landscapes Understanding how landscapes were created and contested in the past is essential for understanding their political economic and cultural manifestations in the present in order to better organize ourselves for a truly integrative future

Thinking about Animals in the Age of the Anthropocene Morten Tønnessen, Kristin Armstrong Oma, Silver Rattasepp, 2016-04-13 The term Anthropocene the era of mankind is increasingly being used as a scientific designation for the current geological epoch This is because the human species now dominates ecosystems worldwide and affects nature in a way that rivals natural forces in magnitude and scale Thinking about Animals in the Age of the Anthropocene presents a dozen chapters that address the role and place of animals in this epoch characterized by anthropogenic human made environmental change While some chapters describe our impact on the living conditions of animals others question conventional ideas about human exceptionalism and stress the complex cognitive and other abilities of animals The Anthropocene idea forces us to rethink our relation to nature and to animals and to critically reflect on our own role and place in the world as a species Nature is not what it was Nor are the lives of animals as they used to be before mankind s rise to global ecological prominence Can we eventually learn to live with animals rather than causing extinction and ecological mayhem Animals as Religious Subjects Celia Deane-Drummond, Rebecca Artinian-Kaiser, David L. Clough, 2013-08-15 This book examines one of the most pressing cultural concerns that surfaced in the last decade the question of the place and significance of the animal This collection of essays represents the outcome of various conversations regarding the animal studies and shows multidisciplinary at its very best namely a rigorous approach within one discipline in conversation with others around a common theme The contributors discuss the most relevant disciplines regarding this conversation namely philosophy anthropology religious studies theology history of religions archaeology and cultural studies The first section Thinking about Animals explores philosophical anthropological and religious perspectives raising general questions about the human perception of animals and its crucial cultural significance The second section explores the intriguing topic of the way animals have been used historically as religious symbols and in religious rituals The third section re examines some Christian theological and biblical approaches to animals in the light of current concerns The final section extends the implications of traditional views about other animals to more specific ethical theories and practices

Music, Sound and Space Georgina Born, 2013-01-17 This book focuses on music sound and space and how they have been employed to transform public and private experience

The Will to Drill - Mining in Arctic Communities Brigit Dale, Ingrid Bay-Larsen, Berit Skorstad, 2017-10-04 This book focuses on the connections between mining activities knowledge politics and the valuation of landscape in selected case sites in Russia Greenland and Norway whilst considering the interrelated aspects of industrialized natural resource based development and environmental concerns in the Arctic The case studies in these three different countries reveals that there are indeed multiple Arctics not least concerning the way extractive industries are received and perceived and that national legislation public awareness and economic alternatives are amongst the variables that influence to what extent environmental ramifications of mining are accepted Through analysis of political discourses legal documents grey literature discussions in local and national media and empirical material from in site fieldwork the authors seek to understand how debates about mining reveal more general conflicts and concerns about how to define sustainability The book contributes to the overall debates on both extractive industries and development trends in the Arctic and will as such be of interest for both established scholars and students as well as policy makers and the public The compilation of cases and variety of analytical perspectives will further stimulate the ongoing debates concerning the impacts of extractive industries on communities both in the Arctic and beyond

Race, Monogamy, and Other Lies They Told You, Second Edition Agustín Fuentes, 2022-05-10 A compelling takedown of prevailing myths about human behavior updated and expanded to meet the current moment There are three major myths of human nature humans are divided into biological races humans are naturally aggressive and men and women are wholly different in behavior desires and wiring Race Monogamy and Other Lies They Told You counters these pervasive and pernicious myths about human behavior Agustín Fuentes tackles misconceptions about what race aggression and sex really mean for humans and incorporates an accessible understanding of culture genetics and evolution that requires us to dispose of notions of nature or nurture Presenting scientific evidence from diverse fields including anthropology biology and psychology Fuentes devises a myth busting toolkit to dismantle persistent fallacies about the validity of biological races the innateness of aggression and violence and the nature of monogamy sex and gender This revised and expanded edition provides up to date references data and analyses and addresses new topics including the popularity of home DNA testing kits and the lies behind incel culture the resurgence of racist nativist thinking and the internet's influence in promoting bad science and a broader understanding of the diversity of sex and gender

Race, Monogamy, and Other Lies They Told You Agustín Fuentes, 2012-06-12 There are three major myths of human nature humans are divided into biological races humans are naturally aggressive men and women are truly different in behavior desires and wiring In an engaging and wide ranging narrative Agustín Fuentes counters these pervasive and pernicious myths about human behavior Tackling misconceptions about what race aggression and sex really mean for humans Fuentes incorporates an accessible understanding of culture genetics and evolution requiring us to dispose of notions of nature or nurture Presenting scientific evidence from diverse fields including anthropology biology and psychology Fuentes devises a myth busting toolkit to dismantle persistent fallacies about the validity of biological races the innateness of aggression and violence and the nature of monogamy and differences between the sexes A final chapter plus an appendix provide a set of take home points on how readers can myth bust on their own Accessible compelling and original this book is a rich and nuanced account of how nature culture experience and choice interact to influence human behavior Academic Study of Religions in a Cognitive, Anthropological and Sociological Perspective Tomáš Bubík, Jakub Havlíček, Silvie Kotherová, Dušan Lužný, Rudolf Havelka, 2021 The book deals with current issues of the study of religion as an academic discipline especially cognitive anthropological and sociological research of religious thought and behaviour Publikace pojednává o aktuálním problému religionistiky jako akademické disciplíny zejména o kognitivním antropologickém a sociologickém výzkumu náboženského myšlení a chování Sentient Entanglements and Ruptures in the Americas: Human-Animal Relations in the Amazon, Andes, and Arctic, 2023-08-28 This book draws together anthropological studies of human animal relations among Indigenous Peoples in three regions of the Americas the Andes Amazonia and the American Arctic Despite contrasts between the ecologies of the different regions it finds useful comparisons between the ways that lives of human and non human animals are entwined in shared circumstances and sentient entanglements While studies of all three regions have been influential in scholarship on human animal relations the regions are seldom brought together This volume highlights the value of examining partial connections across the American continent between human and other than human lives Aesthetics and Radical Politics Gavin Grindon, 2008-12-18 There has always been a strong connection historically between aesthetics and radical politics and this is no less true for the global justice movement's current preoccupation with cultural approaches to political action The essays collected here seek to engage with past and present convergences between the theories and practices of artists and writers and the theories and practices of movements for radical social change There is already a massive amount of literature on Marxist approaches to aesthetics art and literature and whilst recognising the usefulness of such approaches the essays collected here attempt to engage with culture from other radical critical positions whether they be anarchist autonomist ecological or otherwise Such perspectives have often been overlooked historically but it is arguable that they now more centrally influence the activities of radical artists and activists As such the perspectives of these essays which are often drawn from or inspired by the practices of the current global justice movement exhibit an exhilarating political and generational break with the suppositions of earlier radical theoretical approaches to cultural critique Culture and the Changing Environment Michael J. Casimir, 2009 Today human ecology has split into many different sub disciplines such as historical ecology political ecology or the New Ecological Anthropology The latter in particular has criticised the predominance of the Western view on different ecosystems arguing that culture specific world views and human environment interactions have been largely neglected However these different perspectives only tackle specific facets of a local and global hyper complex reality In bringing together a variety of views and theoretical approaches these especially commissioned essays prove that an interdisciplinary collaboration and understanding of the extreme complexity of the human environment interface s is possible

An Archaeology of Skill Maikel Kuijpers, 2017-08-03 Material is the mother of innovation and it is through skill that innovations are brought about This core thesis that is developed in this book identifies skill as the linchpin of and missing link between studies on craft creativity innovation and material culture Through a detailed study of early bronze age axes the question is tackled of what it involves to be skilled providing an evidence based argument about levels of skill The unique contribution of this work is that it lays out a theoretical framework and methodology through which an empirical analysis of skill is achievable A specific chaîne opératoire for metal axes is used that compares not only what techniques were used but also how they were applied A large corpus of axes is compared in terms of what skills and attention were given at the different stages of their production The ideas developed in this book are of interest to the emerging trend of material thinking in the human and social sciences At the same time it looks towards and augments the development in craft studies recognising the many different aspects of craft in contemporary and past societies and the particular relationship that craftspeople have with their material Drawing together these two distinct fields of research will stimulate re thinking of how to integrate production with discussions of other aspects of object biographies and how we link arguments about value to social models

Routledge Handbook of Sport and the Environment Brian P. McCullough, Timothy B. Kellison, 2017-07-28 The natural environment is a central issue in both academic and wider societal discourse The global sport industry is not immune from this discussion and has to confront its responsibility to reduce its impact on the natural environment This book goes further than any other in surveying both the challenges and the opportunities presented to the sports industry as it engages with the sustainability agenda exploring the various ways in which sport scholars can integrate sustainability into their research With a multidisciplinary sweep including management sociology law events and ethics this is a ground breaking book in the study of sport Drawing on cutting edge research it includes over thirty chapters covering all the most important themes in contemporary sport studies such as climate change sustainability and corporate social responsibility ethics governance and the law event management tourism and pollution marketing branding and consumer behavior the Olympics urban development and mega event legacies With contributions from world leading researchers and practitioners from around the globe this is the most comprehensive book ever published on sport and the environment The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

senses in the disciplines of anthropology and psychology and in the field of law lays the foundations for a sensational jurisprudence or a way to do justice to and by the senses of other people In part 1 Howes demonstrates how sensory ethnography has yielded alternative insights into how the senses function and argues convincingly that each culture should be approached on its own sensory terms Part 2 documents how the senses have been disciplined psychologically within the Western tradition starting with Aristotle and moving through the rise of Lockean empiricism and cognitive neuroscience Here Howes presents an anthropologically informed critique of experimental and cognitive psychology sensory science and phenomenology In part 3 he introduces the paradigm of the historical anthropology of the senses and sensation and applies it to the analysis of trade relations between Europe and China in the early modern period to the treaty making process in North America during the colonial period and to all the unresolved disputes over land rights and Indigenous sovereignty that continue to this day arguing that these differences are rooted in a cultural clash of sensoria Designed for the classroom Sensorial Investigations displays an expansive critical engagement with generations of scholarship It is essential reading for students and scholars of the history and anthropology of the senses the psychology of sensation and socio legal studies
