Food Philosophy David M. Kaplan, 2019-11-19 Food is a challenging subject There is little consensus about how and what we should produce and consume It is not even clear what food is or whether people have similar experiences of it On one hand food is recognized as a basic need if not a basic right On the other hand it is hard to generalize about it given the wide range of practices and cuisines and the even wider range of tastes This book is an introduction to the philosophical dimensions of food David M Kaplan examines the nature and meaning of food how we experience it the social role it plays its moral and political dimensions and how we judge it to be delicious or awful He shows how the different branches of philosophy contribute to a broader understanding of food what food is metaphysics how we experience food epistemology what taste in food is aesthetics how we should make and eat food ethics how governments should regulate food political philosophy and why food matters to us existentialism Kaplan embarks on a series of philosophical investigations considering topics such as culinary identity and authenticity tasting and food criticism appetite and disgust meat eating and techno foods and consumerism and conformity He emphasizes how different narratives help us navigate the complex world of food and reminds us we all have responsibilities to ourselves to others and to animals An original treatment of a timely subject Food Philosophy is suitable for undergraduates while making a significant contribution to scholarly debates

The Philosophy of Eating Albert Jones Bellows, 1867 Food and Philosophy Spencer Wertz, 2017-02-08 These essays on food and philosophy were written over several decades Not only philosophers and historians but individuals who have an ongoing interest in food should relish them The essays cover wide ranging topics that include genetically modified organisms chocolate and its world food as art the pornography of food and the five flavors of Chinese cuisine In addition there are several chapters that deal with the refinement of erudite professional cuisine from popular regional cuisine in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries in Europe One chapter stands alone as an analysis of the Native American cultural foundations of maize The book opens with an essay on the philosophy of food history that addresses three fundamental problems the duplication of sensations and taste the understanding of recipes from other historical periods and the sorts of judgments that are included or excluded in a historical narrative The book ends with an exposition of R G Collingwood's anthropology of eating and dining which completes the discussion with an analysis of the magical symbolism of those cultural activities

Food Philosophy Ryan Gable, 2018-12 Food Philosophy Making Sense of Taste Carolyn Korsmeyer, 2014-01-17 Taste perhaps the most intimate of the five senses has traditionally been considered beneath the concern of philosophy too bound to the body too personal and idiosyncratic Yet in addition to providing physical pleasure eating and drinking bear symbolic and aesthetic value in human experience and they continually inspire writers and artists In Making Sense of Taste Carolyn Korsmeyer explains how taste came to occupy so low a place in the hierarchy of senses and why it is deserving of greater philosophical respect and attention Korsmeyer begins with the Greek thinkers who classified taste as an inferior bodily sense she then traces the parallels between notions of aesthetic and gustatory taste that were explored in the formation of modern aesthetic theories She presents scientific views of how taste actually works and identifies multiple components of taste experiences Turning to taste's objects food and drink she looks at the different meanings they convey in art and literature as well as in ordinary human life and proposes an approach to the aesthetic value of taste that recognizes the representational and expressive roles of food Korsmeyer's consideration of art encompasses works that employ food in contexts sacred and profane that seek to whet the appetite and to keep it at bay her selection of literary vignettes ranges from narratives of macabre devouring to stories of communities forged by shared eating

Philosophers at Table Raymond D. Boisvert, Lisa Heldke, 2016-04-15 When you boil it down one of the most important things we do each day is eat The question of eating what and how may seem simple at first but it is dense with complex meanings reflecting myriad roles that food plays and has played over the centuries In fact as Raymond D Boisvert and Lisa Heldke show in this book it s difficult to imagine a more philosophically charged act than eating Philosophers at Table explores the philosophical scaffolding that supports this crucial aspect of everyday life showing that we are not just creatures with minds but also with stomachs Examining a cornucopia of literary works myths histories and film not to mention philosophical ideas the authors make the case for a bona fide philosophy of food They look at Babette s Feast as an argument for hospitality as a central ethical virtue They compare fast food in Accra to the molecular gastronomy of Spain as a way of considering the nature of food as art And they bite into a slug which is unsurprisingly completely gross to explore tasting as a learning tool a way of knowing A surprising original take on something we have not philosophically savored enough Philosophers at Table invites readers to think in fresh ways about the simple and important act of eating

Thinking Through Food Alexandra Plakias,2018-11-30 This book offers a wide ranging yet concise introduction to the many philosophical issues surrounding food production and consumption It begins with discussions of the metaphysics epistemology and aesthetics of food then moves on to debates about the ethics of eating animals the environmental impacts of food production and the role of technology in our food supply before concluding with discussions of food access health and justice Throughout the author draws on cross disciplinary research to engage with historical debates and current events

Making Sense of Taste Carolyn Korsmeyer,2002 Taste as Experience Nicola Perullo,2016 Taste as Experience puts the pleasure of food at the center of human experience It shows how the sense of taste informs our preferences for and relationship to nature pushes us toward ethical practices of consumption and impresses upon us the importance of aesthetics Eating is often dismissed as a necessary aspect of survival and our personal enjoyment of food is considered a quirk Nicola Perullo sees food as the only portion of the world we take in on a daily basis constituting our first and most significant encounter with the earth Perullo has long observed people s food practices and has listened to their food experiences He draws on years of research to explain the complex meanings behind our food choices and the thinking that accompanies our gustatory actions He also considers our indifference toward food as a force influencing us as much as engagement For Perullo taste is value and wisdom It cannot be reduced to mere chemical or cultural factors but embodies the quality and quantity of our earthly experience

Just Fodder Josh Milburn,2022-07-19 Animal lovers who feed meat to other animals are faced with a paradox perhaps fewer animals would be harmed if they stopped feeding the ones they love Animal diets do not raise problems merely for individuals To address environmental crises health threats and harm to animals we must change our food systems and practices And in these systems animals too are eaters Moving beyond what humans should eat and whether to count animals as food Just Fodder answers ethical and political questions arising from thinking about animals as eaters Josh Milburn begins with practical dilemmas about feeding the animals closest to us our pets or animal companions The questions grow more complicated as he considers relationships with more distance questions about whether and how to feed garden birds farmland animals who would eat our crops and wild animals Milburn evaluates the nature and circumstances of our relationships with animals to generate a novel theory of animal rights Looking past arguments about what we can and cannot do to other beings Just Fodder asks what we can should and must do for them laying out a fuller range of our ethical obligations to other animals
