The Oxford Companion To Global Change Oxford Companions:

The Oxford Companion to Global Change David J. Cuff, Andrew Goudie, 2009 The Oxford Companion to Global Change provides a concise guide to the realities of a planet in transition covering such crucial topics as the threat of declining crude oil production the status of coal burning technology and the future of nuclear power Over 150 scientists and specialists led by David I Cuff and Andrew S Goudie of Temple University and Oxford University respectively contribute entries on key subjects demonstrating the social political and technological interrelationships between them BOOK JACKET Companion to Global Change Andrew Goudie, David Cuff, 2008-11-21 The Oxford Companion to Global Change is a fresh look at the world and the compelling environmental issues of the early 21st century including global warming and its technical and regional implications as well as the prospects for current energy supplies and the promise of new technologies In one convenient volume it brings together current knowledge about the relations between technological social demographic economic and political factors as well as biological chemical and physical systems It is an essential reference work for law and policy practitioners researchers and other professionals seeking to understand any aspect of global change Oxford Companion to Wine Jancis Robinson, Julia Harding, 2015 This wine book provides comprehensive coverage on all aspects of wine making and puts wine wine making and wine drinking into historical perspective to Archaeology Neil Asher Silberman, Alexander A. Bauer, Cornelius Holtorf, Margarita Díaz-Andreu García, Emma Gender and Climate Change: An Introduction Irene Dankelman, 2012-06-25 Although climate change Waterton, 2012 affects everybody it is not gender neutral It has significant social impacts and magnifies existing inequalities such as the disparity between women and men in their vulnerability and ability to cope with this global phenomenon This new textbook edited by one of the authors of the seminal Women and the Environment in the Third World Alliance for the Future 1988 which first exposed the links between environmental degradation and unequal impacts on women provides a comprehensive introduction to gender aspects of climate change Over 35 authors have contributed to the book It starts with a short history of the thinking and practice around gender and sustainable development over the past decades Next it provides a theoretical framework for analyzing climate change manifestations and policies from the perspective of gender and human security Drawing on new research the actual and potential effects of climate change on gender equality and women s vulnerabilities are examined both in rural and urban contexts This is illustrated with a rich range of case studies from all over the world and valuable lessons are drawn from these real experiences Too often women are primarily seen as victims of climate change and their positive roles as agents of change and contributors to livelihood strategies are neglected. The book disputes this characterization and provides many examples of how women around the world organize and build resilience and adapt to climate change and the role they are playing in climate change mitigation. The final section looks at how far gender mainstreaming in climate mitigation and adaptation has advanced the policy frameworks in place and how we can move from policy to effective action Accompanied by a wide range of references and key resources this book provides students and professionals with an essential comprehensive introduction to the gender aspects of climate change Theology and Climate Change Michael S. Northcott, Peter M. Scott, 2014-06-05 This book offers the first comprehensive systematic theological reflection on arguably the most serious issue facing humanity and other creatures today Responding to climate change is often left to scientists policy makers and activists but what understanding does theology have to offer In this collection the authors demonstrate that there is vital cultural and intellectual work for theologians to perform in responding to climate science and in commending a habitable way forward Written from a range of denominations and traditions yet with ecumenical intent the authors explore key Christian doctrines and engage with some of the profound issues raised by climate change Key questions considered include What may be said about the goodness of creation in the face of anthropogenic climate change And how does theology handle a projected future without the human The volume provides students and scholars with fascinating theological insight into the complexity of climate change David Clowney, Patricia Mosto, 2009-11-16 This anthology designed for use in undergraduate courses in environmental ethics includes new and classic readings by leading writers in the field full length case studies and many short discussion cases Introductions and discussion guestions are provided for all the essays with each chapter introduced by a summary of the issues and appropriate philosophic historical and scientific background Exploring ethical theory environmental ethics science and the environmental movement Earthcare also offers suggestions for students on how to think about ethics and the environment Through many worldviews religions and philosophical perspectives this collection grapples with environmental ethics issues from valuing nature concerns about the atmosphere water land animals and human population as well as the interlocking and often problematic interests of business consumption energy and sustainability This book also features examples of a wide variety of environmentally engaged individuals giving students a way of seeing the connections between the material studied and what they themselves might accomplish Disability, the Environment, and Colonialism Tatiana Konrad, 2024-08-02 Aligning discourses surrounding hegemonic colonial visions of the environment and disability this volume illustrates the ways in which colonial understandings of disability were and continue to be defined by relationships with the environment collectively creating a form of eco ableism that continues to this day Climate Change and the Symbol Deficit in the Christian Tradition Jan-Olav Henriksen, 2022-02-24 Exploring how the climate crisis discloses the symbol deficit in the Christian tradition this book argues that Christianity is rich in symbols that identify and address the failures of humans and the obstacles that prevent humans from doing well while positive symbols that can engage people in constructive action seem underdeveloped Henriksen examines the potential of the Christian tradition to develop symbols that can engage peoples in committed and sustained action to prevent further crisis To do so he argues that we need symbols that engage both intellectually and emotionally and which enhance our perception of belonging in relationships with other humans be it both in the present and in the future According to Henriksen the deficit can only be obliterated if we can develop symbols that have some root or resonance in the Christian tradition provide concrete and specified guidance of agency engage people both emotionally and intellectually and finally open up to visions for a moral agency that provide positive motivations for caring about environmental conditions as a whole Care of Souls, Care of Polis Rvan LaMothe, 2017-07-25 In the fields of pastoral care and pastoral theology there are times when a book signals a paradigm shift This is one such book LaMothe develops a political pastoral theology that is used to examine critically political economic and societal structures and practices In the first part of the book LaMothe argues that care and pastoral care are political concepts which along with the notion of justice can be used as a hermeneutical framework to assess macropolitical and macroeconomic realities Included in this section is the notion of civil and redemptive discourse necessary for the survival and flourishing of persons and polis The last section of the book examines U S Empire capitalism class classism and other pressing political issues using the hermeneutical lens of care Religion and Sustainability: Interreligious Resources, Interdisciplinary Responses Rita D. Sherma, Purushottama Bilimoria, 2022-05-09 This volume brings sustainability studies into creative and constructive conversation with actions practices and worldviews from religion and theology supportive of the vision and work of the UN SDGs It features more than 30 chapters from scholars across diverse disciplines including economics ethics theology sociology ritual studies and visual culture This interdisciplinary content presents new insights for inhibiting ecospheric devastation which is inextricably linked to unsustainable financial societal racial geopolitical and cultural relationships The chapters show how humanistic elements can enable the establishment of sustainable ways of thinking feeling and acting This includes the aesthetic and emotive dimensions of life The contributors cover such topics as empowering women and girls to systemically reverse climate change nurturing interreligious peace decolonizing landscapes and promoting horticulture ecovillages equity and animal ethics Coverage integrates a variety of religious and theological perspectives These include Buddhism Judaism Hinduism Islam Christianity and other traditions To enable the restoration and flourishing of the ecosystems of the biosphere human societies need to be reimagined and reordered in terms of economic cultural religious racial and social equitability. This volume illustrates transformative paradigms to help foster such change. It introduces new principles practices ethics and insights to the discourse This work will appeal to students scholars and professionals researching the ethical moral social cultural psychological developmental and other social scientific impacts of religion on the key markers of sustainability Zephaniah: An Earth Bible Commentary Nicholas R. Werse, 2024-10-17 With astute attention to Zephaniah s intertextual relationships with other biblical texts Nicholas R Werse explores the implications of Zephaniah as a book in perpetual conversation with other biblical cosmologies and conceptions of the human place in relationship with creation Werse guides readers to critically examine Zephaniah's ancient worldview and subsequent legacy in dialog with the world's modern ecological crises Werse argues that Zephaniah begins and ends with the land It begins with the removal of all life from the land and ends with a proclamation returning the exiles to their ancestral home Along this journey all three chapters of Zephaniah systematically reverse language and imagery from Gen 1 11 and draw deeply from the language of earlier prophets to depict the 6th century BCE destruction of Jerusalem as nothing short of the unravelling of creation While remaining suspicious of Zephaniah's distinctively androcentric worldview Werse traces Zephaniah's rhetorical journey from the deconstruction of creation and the nations to its proclamations of hope for the future Systemizing thePast Yervand Grekyan, Arsen Bobokhyan, 2023-03-02 Dedicated to Pavel Avetisyan a leading modern Armenian archaeologist with wide international recognition 36 contributions take the reader to the fascinating world of Caucasian archaeology The volume demonstrates the essential role of the region in shaping the prehistoric cultural landscape of the Ancient Near East

Language Contact in Ancient Egypt Thomas Schneider, 2023 This book provides the first comprehensive introduction to the field of language contact and multilingualism in ancient Egypt before the Greco Roman period 4th millennium BCE 4th c BCE It gives a survey of the historical evidence of linguistic interference of Egyptian with languages in Africa the Near East and the Mediterranean discusses the different attested phenomena of language contact and offers a case study of foreign language communities in ancient Egypt Detailed indexes makes this book a rich source of linguistic information for general linguistics and neighboring disciplines Here For Our Children's Children? Adrian C. Armstrong, 2016-04-05 This study reviews the many different bases for wanting to preserve the environment By seeing how protagonists approach the same situation from different assumptions some of the origins of environmental conflict may be established and ways of resolving conflict can be identified. There are two major issues in environmental ethics. The first asks whether the problems can be solved within current approaches or require instead lifestyle changes for the whole of western civilisation The second issue concerns why the environment should be valued This review identifies a series in increasingly stronger valuations that can be identified as 1 Hedonistic we protect the environment because we like it 2 Utilitarian the environment is valuable to us 3 Consequentialist we want to preserve things for other people now or future 4 Intrinsic The environment has virtue in its own right 5 Extrinsic we value the environment because it is of consequence to some thing else theistic a God Thirdly these insights are used to explore potential ways of resolving environmental conflicts notably by the recovery of democratic decision making at the right scale local national or even global International Humanitarian Action Hans-Joachim Heintze, Pierre Thielbörger, 2017-10-04 This textbook examines a wide range of humanitarian action issues in five parts presented by specialists from different academic fields The respective parts reflect the five core modules of the International NOHA Joint Master's Programme International Humanitarian Action a World Politics b International Law c Public Health d Anthropology and e Management The book serves as a common basis for teaching at all NOHA universities and aims at imparting the basic knowledge and skills needed to excel in a complex interdisciplinary and international learning context It provides in depth information on key international humanitarian principles and values professional codes of conduct and the commitment to their implementation in practice The book will thus be useful for all students of the NOHA Joint Master s Programme and participants of any courses with a similar content but also for academics and practitioners affiliated with entities such as international organisations and NGOs It may also serve as an introduction to anyone with an interest in understanding the numerous and inter linked facets of humanitarian action The Character of International Law Emma I Breeze, Mark Drumbl, Gerry Simpson, Marianne Wade, 2025-10-02 Professor Robert Cryer was a foundational voice in modern international criminal law This book celebrates his character his life his work and his influence The book is a Festschrift of love and admiration for a character that is dearly missed Fittingly the book also continues to voice the many conversations that Rob started It thereby doubles as a critical examination of the life of international law The book constellates 17 expertly authored chapters nurtured by four editors through five distinctive sections each of which reflects on the character of international law These sections presented as acts are discipline and borders re imagination and continuity violence and reckoning acoustics and storytelling and friendship and kindness A wide gamut of touchpoints dovetails into a beautifully eclectic medley These include criminal law the law of war music and harm gender based violence nuclear weapons and artificial intelligence law after war the crime of aggression drones and targets the domestication of international law and the role of law in inter state relations The book journeys to many places including Japan Bosnia and Ukraine while reflecting on the role of teaching and mentorship in the life of international law Cities for Climate Change David Crichton, Fergus Nicol, 2006-08-11 From the author of the bestseller Ecohouse this challenging and exciting text gives you an insight into the real changes that are necessary to give our modern day built environment both sustainability and survivability The book is based on the premise that climate change is going to happen and its impacts on our lives are going to be far worse than generally expected Sue Roaf argues that many modern buildings are not only unsustainable in themselves but are also having a catastrophic effect on the global climate In a unique argument she illustrates that the only way we can hope to survive the following century in tact is if we not only begin to radically reduce CO2 emissions from our buildings and stop building climatically disastrous building types but also build only the buildings that can survive in the changed climates of the future Throughout the book traditional and modern building types are used to explain the history and impacts of climates past present and future on buildings set the scene in terms of the history of building development of where we are now and where we are going in terms of sustainability and survivability of buildings develop two main scenarios of future building development with the business as usual model and the survival plan model and to make a list of recommendations based on the two scenarios of what actions should be taken by architects planners and engineers as well as local and national governments businesses and ordinary people in ensuring the true sustainable nature of the built environment Social Work Practice with Older People Rory Lynch, 2013-11-13 Older people are the biggest service user group for social workers and an increasing proportion of the population In this refreshingly positive and practical textbook Rory Lynch draws on years of practice and teaching experience to show how to achieve best social work practice with older adults He takes a person centred approach which fosters respect by valuing the fact that elderly people have more lived experience than others Exploring the key theoretical approaches and methods of intervention this book helps social workers to identify understand and facilitate their service users wishes for well being and a fulfilling older age Chapters are practice driven containing case studies drawn from a range of care settings reflective questions and exercises Mapping directly onto the key modules on the social work degree this is essential reading for all student social workers especially as they prepare to go on their practice placement It is also valuable reading for qualified social workers Rory Lynch is Lecturer in Social Work at Robert Gordon University Confidence in Life Matthew Lee Anderson, 2023-12-28 Confidence in Life offers a theologically robust evaluation of the good of procreation which emerges out of both careful interactions with contemporary analytic philosophy and a reconstructed reading of Karl Barth's doctrine of pro creation While analytic moral philosophy has rarely been brought into close proximity to Barth s work the conjunction underscores the deep difficulty of accounting for procreation s value within non theological frameworks and helps clarify what is distinctive and valuable about Barth s own moral reasoning on this subject Though primarily staged as an intervention in Protestant moral theology Confidence in Life's rehabilitation of the Virgin Mary's role in Barth's thought has promise for an ecumenical retrieval of the good of procreating within the economy of redemption and its retrieval of honour as an indispensable aspect of Barth s theology will be of interest to Barth scholars and moral theologians alike
