Afterlives Nancy Mandeville Caciola, 2016-03-31 Simultaneously real and unreal, the dead are people yet they are not. The society of medieval Europe developed a rich set of imaginative traditions about death and the afterlife, using the dead as a point of entry for thinking about the self, regeneration, and loss. These macabre preoccupations are evident in the widespread popularity of stories about the returned dead who interacted with the living, both as disembodied spirits and as living corpses or revenants. In Afterlives, Nancy Mandeville Caciola explores this extraordinary phenomenon of the living's relationship with the dead in Europe during the five hundred years after the year 1000. Caciola considers both Christian and pagan beliefs, showing how certain traditions survived and evolved over time and how attitudes both diverged and overlapped through different contexts and social strata. As she shows the intersection of Christian eschatology with various pagan afterlife imaginings, from the classical paganisms of the Mediterranean to the Germanic, Celtic, Slavic, and Scandinavian paganisms indigenous to northern Europe, she brought new cultural values about the dead into the Christian fold as Christianity spread across Europe. Indeed, the Church proved surprisingly open to these influences, absorbing new images of death and afterlife in unpredictable fashion. Over time, however, the persistence of regional cultures and beliefs would be counterbalanced by the effects of an increasingly centralized Church hierarchy. Through it all, one thing remained constant: the deep desire in medieval people to bring together the living and the dead into a single community enduring across the generations

Human Experience and the Triune God Bernhard Nausner, 2008 The overarching aim of this work is to develop a new account of the doctrine of the Trinity The author proposes that such an approach is overdue because contemporary trinitarian theology pays insufficient attention to the fact that theology as linguistic discourse is inescapably embedded in human experience Hence the critical analysis of existing trinitarian constructions Gunton LaCugna Moltmann is impressively sharp In response Nausner develops an interstitial methodology working between experience and revelation refusing both revelational and experiential positivisms In dialogue with contemporary novels the human sciences Frankl Weizsäcker philosophy Levinas and biblical narratives he offers an imaginative original and contemporary way of conceiving the doctrine of the Trinity in relation to human life

Human City John F. Kane, 2016-03-30 Building the Human City is a first overview of the award winning yet quite diverse works of Jesuit philosopher William F Lynch Writing from the 1950s to the mid 1980s Lynch was among the first to warn against the fierce polarizations prevalent in our culture wars and political life He called for a transformation of artistic and intellectual sensibilities and imaginations through the healing discernments and critical ironies of an Ignatian and Socratic spirituality Yet the breadth of his concerns from cinema and literature to mental health and hope to secularization and faith as well as the depth of his thought philosophical as much as theological led to little initial awareness of the overall vision uniting his writings This book while exploring that vision also argues that the spirituality Lynch proposes is more needed today than when he first wrote Evolving Humanity and Biblical Wisdom Marie Noonan Sabin, 2018-04-01 Teilhard de

Chardin twentieth century paleontologist and Jesuit envisioned an explosion in global communication that could expand human consciousness to the point of universal empathy In the process he joined his scientific knowledge to his religious faith Exploring Teilhard s ideas in biblical texts Marie Sabin discovers that his vision has ancient seeds In the book of Job the Gospel of John and in Proverbs feminine Wisdom as well as in the gospels Christ she finds a persistent theme of evolving human consciousness The texts ground Teilhard s futuristic thought in ancient wisdom while Teilhard s evolutionary insights give these ancient voices contemporary relevance Patton's War Kevin M. Hymel, 2023-04-07 Winner of the 2023 Army Historical Foundation Distinguished Writing Award for Biography This second of three volumes of Patton s War picks up where the first one left off examining General George S Patton s leadership of the U S Third Army The book follows Patton s contributions to both the Normandy and Brittany campaigns the closing of the Falaise Pocket in Normandy and racing to the port cities in Brittany It ends with Patton and his corps rescuing the besieged town of Bastogne in the Battle of the Bulge As he did in the preceding volume Hymel relies not only on Patton s diaries and letters but countless veteran interviews surveys and memoirs He also provides a unique insight missed by previous Patton scholars Instead of using Patton s transcribed diaries which were heavily edited and embellished he consults Patton s original hand written diaries to uncover previously unknown information about the general This second volume of Hymel s groundbreaking work shows Patton at the height of his generalship successfully leading his army without the mistakes and caustic behavior that almost got him sent home earlier even if we also see a Patton still guided at times by racism and antisemitism

Inheritance Law and Political Theology in Shakespeare and Milton Joseph S. Jenkins, 2016-05-23 Reading God's will and a man's Last Will as ideas that reinforce one another this study shows the relevance of England's early modern crisis regarding faith in the will of God to current debates by legal academics on the theory of property and its succession The increasing power of the dead under law in the US the UK and beyond a concern of recent volumes in law and social sciences is here addressed through a distinctive approach based on law and humanities Vividly treating literary and biblical battles of will the book suggests approaches to legal constitution informed by these dramas and by English legal history This study investigates correlations between the will of God in Judeo Christian traditions and the Last Wills of humans especially dominant males in cultures where these traditions have developed It is interdisciplinary in the sense that it engages with the limits of several fields it is informed by humanities critical theory especially Benjaminian historical materialism and Lacanian psychoanalysis but refrains from detailed theoretical considerations Dramatic narratives from the Bible Shakespeare and Milton are read as suggesting real possibilities for alternative inheritance i e constitutional regimes As Jenkins shows these texts propose ways to alleviate violence violence both personal and political through attention to inheritance law
