Participation, Culture and Democracy Tadej Pirc, 2018-10-01 The underlying question of this collection of essays focuses on the very core of our democratic culture It asks how one can actively take part in its political legal educational informational social cultural and economic mechanisms Advanced technologies have given rise to a vast array of tools enabling a culture of participation New forms of civic engagement have emerged as well as a new conceptualization of active citizenship. These developments encouraged the authors of this collection to address legal, social, political, philosophical and media aspects of the emancipatory potential of participatory democracy. They focus on specific case studies stretching across various places and spheres: from the Canadian media legislature, community organizing in low income neighbourhoods of the USA, the Knesset of Israel, the Roma minority in Poland and legal texts of Austria to the online sphere of art and digital democracy. The key advantage of this book thus lies in its multifaceted consideration of seemingly disparate yet highly intertwined and ubiquitous concepts of democratic societies around the globe.

This book examines cultural participation from three different but interrelated perspectives: participatory art and aesthetics, participatory digital media and participatory cultural policies and institutions. Focusing on how ideals and practices relating to cultural participation express and re-produce different cultures of participation, an interdisciplinary team of authors demonstrate how the areas of arts, digital media and cultural policy and institutions are shaped by different but interrelated contextual backgrounds. Chapters offer a variety of perspectives and strategies for empirically identifying cultures of participation and their current transformations and tensions in various regional and national settings. This book will be of interest to academics and cultural leaders in the areas of museum studies, media and communications, arts, arts education, cultural studies, curatorial studies and digital studies. It will also be relevant for cultural workers, artists and policy makers interested in the participatory agenda in art, digital media and cultural institutions.
