The Path A One Mile Walk Through The Universe Chet Raymo:

The Path Chet Raymo, 2009-05-26 For almost forty years Chet Raymo has walked a one mile path from his house to the college where he taught chronicling the universe he has found through observing every detail of his route with a scientist's curiosity a historian's respect for the past and a child's capacity for wonder With each step the landscape he traversed became richer suggesting deeper and deeper aspects of astronomy history biology and literature and making the path universal in scope His insights inspire us to turn our local paths whether through cities suburbs or rural areas into portals to greater understanding of our interconnectedness with nature and history

The Path Chet Raymo, 2009-04-01 For almost forty years Chet Raymo has walked a one mile path from his house in North Easton Massachusetts to the Stonehill College campus where he taught physics and astronomy The woods and fields stream and community gardens he passes are as familiar to him as his own backyard Raymo closely observes everything combining the curiosity of a scientist an historian's knowledge and respect for the past and a child's capacity for wonder With each step the landscape he traverses becomes deeper richer more multidimensional opening door after door into astronomy geology biology history and literature and making the path universal in scope The flake of granite in the path was once at the core of towering mountains pushed up across New England when continents collided he writes The purple loosestrife beside the stream emigrated from Europe in the 1800s as a garden ornamental then went wantonly native in a land of wild frontiers I have attended to all of these stories and tried to hear what the landscape has to say I have attended too to language How did the wood anemone and Sheep Pasture get their names What does the querset of Queset Brook signify in the language of Native Americans Scratch a name in a landscape and history bubbles up like a spring Borrowing the words of the early 20th century naturalist Robert Lloyd Praeger Raymo urges us all to walk with reverent feet stopping often watching closely listening carefully Raymo's wisdom and insights inspire us to experience the world fully to turn our local paths whether through cities suburbs or rural areas into portals to greater understanding of our interconnectedness with nature and of our own history

The Path Raymo Chet, 2007 For almost forty years Chet Raymo has walked a one mile path from his house to the college where he taught chronicling the universe he has found through observing every detail of his route with a scientist's curiosity a historian's respect for the past and a child's capacity for wonder His insights inspire us to turn our local paths into portals that may lead to greater understanding of our interconnectedness with nature and history

Walking God's Earth David Cloutier, 2014-09-25 How does the Catholic tradition understand the significance of the environment and what are the implications for our daily lives In Walking God's Earth David Cloutier provides a concise accessible and spiritually engaging introduction to these questions Cloutier emphasizes the importance of finding our place within God's created order showing how spiritual experiences and scriptural narratives guide us to a humble and realistic perspective one that often clashes with the presumptions of society In its focus on practical ways of living out this message the book identifies key areas food fuel dwelling places work and leisure where Catholics can bring their faith convictions into daily living We are called to handle the things of God's creation in holy sacramental ways as an essential part of our vocation to live out our faith Walking God's Earth emphasizes the importance of connecting both spiritually and morally our environmental lives with the basics of our faith in hope that God's desire for the renewal of the earth may be realized in our own desires and in the practices of our communities

When the Moon Slips Away Snd Svoboda, Melannie Svoboda, 2009 Sr Melannie can take the most ordinary things and turn them into beautiful meditations She makes you say Why didn't I ever notice that She makes you feel like singing God's praises as you pray and reflect over the extraordinary gifts of nature Reading this book is a wonderful spiritual experience as you encounter nature in unexpected ways with refreshing new insights Great for spiritual reading and a wonderful gift book

If No Moon Moira Linehan, 2007-03-26 If No Moon by award winning author Moira Linehan documents the effects of profound loss and the dark withdrawal into grief Wherever the author turns the landscape of her backyard in Massachusetts a Trappist monastery in Kentucky the museums of Florence or the cliffs of Inishmor in Ireland she sees only the geography of emptiness Crossovers between craft and art form and voice knitting and memory recur throughout the poems Lying within the tradition of narrative poetry elegy and the lyric the collection reveals the mysterious journey of return Coming full circle to find again the lyrical and the transcendent within the everyday beauty eventually wins out If No Moon accessible to all who have or will experience loss is the voice of one who has come to understand that there is no other work but starting over
