Diversity--What's the Problem? Rita M. Gross, 2014-04-24 Once upon a time on grounds of both religion and common sense people assumed that the earth was flat and that the sun literally rose and set each day When newly developing knowledge made those beliefs untenable giving them up was difficult Today the belief that only one of the world's various religions is true for all people on earth is equivalent to the belief in a flat earth Both notions have become untenable given contemporary knowledge about religion Even though many people are still troubled by the existence of religious diversity today that diversity is a fact of life Religious diversity should be no more troubling to religious people than the fact that the earth is round and circles the sun This provocative book based on the author's longtime practice of Buddhism and comparative study of religion provides tools with which one can truly appreciate religious diversity as a gift and resource rather than as a deficiency or a problem to be overcome After we accept diversity as inevitable and become comfortable with it diversity always enriches life both nature and culture      In Love and Trust Thich Nhat Hanh, 2024-10-22 Experience Zen master Thich Nhat Hanh's expressions of love connection and wisdom through deep and personal letters now published in English for the very first time Widely recognized for his profound yet accessible teachings on the art of mindful living Thich Nhat Hanh lived a rich life dedicated to fostering community and connection within and outside of the monastery walls In In Love and Trust offers a striking look at Thich Nhat Hanh as seen through his intimate letters to monastics lay practitioners allies in the peace movement and other friends on the path Through these touching pieces of correspondence we see Thich

Nhat Hanh at his warmest and most inspirational at his most candid and direct These personal messages of love and trust demonstrate the deeply human origins of Thich Nhat Hanh's teachings and his own deeply human expression of them In Love and Trust is composed primarily of newly translated letters presented here in English for the first time The book features images of archival hand written letters throughout

Cultural Studies and Environmentalism Deborah J. Tippins, Michael P. Mueller, Michiel van Eijck, Jennifer D Adams, 2010-08-05 As the first book to explore the confluence of three emerging yet critical fields of study this work sets an exacting standard The editors aim was to produce the most authoritative guide for ecojustice place based education and indigenous knowledge in education Aimed at a wide audience that includes but is not restricted to science educators and policymakers Cultural Studies and Environmentalism starts from the premise that schooling is a small part of the larger educational domain in which we live and learn Informed by this overarching notion the book opens up ways in which home grown talents narratives and knowledge can be developed and eco region awareness and global relationships can be facilitated Incorporating a diversity of perspectives that include photography poetry and visual art the work provides a nuanced lens for evaluating educational problems and community conditions while protecting and conserving the most threatened and vulnerable narratives Editors and contributors share the view that the impending loss of these narratives should be discussed much more widely than is currently the case and that both teachers and children can take on some of the responsibility for their preservation The relevance of ecojustice to this process is clear Ecojustice philosophy is a way of learning about how we frame or perceive the world around us and why that matters Although it is not synonymous with social or environmental justice the priorities of ecojustice span the globe in the same way It incorporates a deep recognition of the appropriateness and significance of learning from place based experiences and indigenous knowledge systems rather than depending on some urgent ecological crises to advocate for school and societal change With a multiplicity of diverse voices coming together to explore its key themes this book is an important starting point for educators in many arenas It brings into better focus a vital role for the Earth's ecosystems in the context of ecosociocultural theory and participatory democracy alike Encompassing theoretical empirical and experiential standpoints concerning place based knowledge systems this unique book argues for a transformation of science education's intellectual tradition of thinking that emphasizes individual cognition In its place the book offers a wisdom tradition of thinking living and being that emphasizes community survival in harmony within itself and with Mother Earth Glen Aikenhead African American Servitude and Historical Imaginings M.

Jordan,2004-08-20 In African American Servitude and Historical Imaginings Margaret Jordan initiates a new way of looking at the African American presence in American literature Twentieth century retrospective fiction is the site for this compelling investigation about how African American servants and slaves have enormous utility as cultural artifacts objects to be acted upon agents in place or agents provocateurs Jordan argues that those who even those seemingly innocuous infrequently visible or silent servants are vehicles through which history culture and social values and practices are cultivated and perpetuated challenged and destabilized Jordan demonstrates how African American servants and servitude are strategically deployed and engaged in ways which encourage a rethinking of the past She examines the ideological underpinnings of retrospective fiction by writers who are clearly social theorists and philosophers Jordan contends that they do not read or misread history they imagine history as meditations on social realities and reconstruct the past as a way to confront the present Weaving the Cosmos Chris Clarke,2010-08-16

Weaving the Cosmos traces humanity's journey from the mythical origins of religion through the struggles to make sense of Christianity in the fourth century and the strangely similar struggles to make sense of quantum theory in the twentieth century to modern quantum cosmology What we see both in the human mind and in the cosmos which has given birth to that mind is a dance between rational Form and intuitive Being This present moment of ecological crisis opens to us a unique opportunity for bringing together these two strands of our existence represented by religion and science As the story unfolds the historical account is interwoven with the author's own experiences of learning the principles through which we can bring about this integration in ourselves and in society

Bringing Learning to Life Louise Boyd Cadwell,2003 Building on her enormously popular book Bringing Reggio Emilia Home Louise Cadwell helps American educators understand what it means to use ideas from the Reggio Approach in their classrooms In new and dynamic ways Cadwell once again takes readers inside the day to day practice of a group of early childhood educators This time she describes the growth and evolution of the work in the St Louis Reggio Collaborative over the past 10 years Transformation at the Base Nhất Hạnh (Thích.),2001 The Nobel Peace Prize nominated Buddhist teacher and author presents an introduction to Buddhist psychology that focuses on the true nature of consciousness and the sources of human suffering happiness and peace The Art and Science of Mindfulness Shauna L. Shapiro,Linda E.

Carlson,2009 Intention is fundamental to any project endeavor or journey Related to intention is the concept of mindfulness the awareness that arises through intentionally attending to oneself and others in an open accepting and discerning way Drawing from Buddhist teachings and psychological theory authors Shapiro and Carlson explore why mindful awareness is integral to the therapeutic healing process Their book integrates the art and science of mindfulness to inspire greater well being in both clinicians and their patients As such mindfulness is understood as a universal human capacity that can help bridge the gap between therapist and patient reminding us that we are all human beings aspiring to greater health happiness and freedom from suffering Publisher description
